ASK SURVEY OF RAIL CROSSING

OVERHEAD OR SUBWAY AT LOS FELIZ IS PROPOSED

Glendale and Los Angeles To Seek Opinion From State Commission

Which will it be?

A subway at the Los Feliz railroad crossing

Or—

An overhead crossing at that traffic danger point?

The State Railroad commission will be asked to make a survey—and make a decision. A joint resolution by Glendale and Los Angeles will be presented to the commission, it is announced.

A joint resolution, asking that the State Railroad commission make a survey of conditions at the Southern Pacific grade crossing at Los Feliz road, prepared by City Attorney Jess Stevens of Los Angeles, will be presented to the Glendale Planning commission at its meeting next Monday night, and will probably be before the City Council for approval next Thursday morning.

The resolution will be filed before the railroad commission jointly by the cities of Glendale and Los Angeles, following the recent action of the Los Angeles County Grade Crossing commission in asking the railroad commission for the survey. The latter body has declared it will recommend before the commission that a subway be constructed on Los Feliz road beneath the Southern Pacific tracks, in opposition to the method that has been suggested by Glendale and Los Angeles.

Cost Nearly $300,000

Those two cities have urged that a thorough study be made of City Engineer J. F. Johannsen's plans for lowering the grade of the Southern Pacific tracks their entire length in Glendale and construction of overhead crossings.

Construction of subway to obtain a grade separation at Los Feliz road would cost nearly

LONG LINE OF MAN HUNTERS CLOSING ON CONVICTS

Bandits Close To Capture Is Claim; Steal Auto And Kidnap Owner

RENO, Nev., May 8.—The stage was all set here today to close in on Joe Tanko and Floyd Hall, the escaped San Quentin murderers. The men are thought to be hiding in an abandoned sheep camp cabin in Truckee canyon, where they made their way after a daring break for liberty when surrounded in the high Sierras.

Two men, believed positively to be Tanko and Hall, were seen coming through Sierraville yesterday afternoon, headed for Truckee and later were reported as having hid themselves in the sheep camp.

The bandits were riding in an automobile with a third person. A man in the rear seat carried a rifle between his knees over which an overcoat was draped.

It was believed that the third man was the owner of the automobile and had been kidnaped in his car.

A squad of Sacramento and Reno police under Chief J. R. Kirkley were heading toward the sheep camp early today ready to "shoot it out" with the desperadoes.

Ranchers throughout the Sierra country in both California and Nevada are heavily armed and keeping a keen lookout for the men.

If the pair is not located near Truckee today, it is planned to make a concentrated search through Northern Nevada.

Huge Human Cordon Put Around Fugitive Convicts

SACRAMENTO, May 8.—A far-flung police line, encircling the entire Sacramento valley and extending into the state of Nevada was formed early today in California's sensational hunt for Joe Tanko and Floyd Hall, escaped San Quentin murderers.

Nevada state police are patroling the Nevada line and a squad of Sacramento police left today to aid them.

The long line of man hunters was perfected shortly after word was received from Grass Valley that the fugitive killers were believed making another desperate break for liberty in a stolen automobile.

Judge Lindsey Defends Age Of Flapperism

LOS ANGELES, May 8.—In the opinion of Judge Ben Lindsey of Denver, who is visiting here, the flapper is destined to climb to greater altitudes.

In fact, the noted jurist predicted today that "cloud spooning" in airplanes would be the next step upward in the jazz daughter's matriculation.

But, in spite of "petting" at dizzy heights, the flapper is not as bad as she is painted, the judge contended.

"Considering the numerous new temptations and the increase in population, juvenile delinquency is remarkably low," he said.

Referring to the Dorothy Ellingson case, Judge Lindsey said the fact that one girl committed such a serious crime was not by any means a sign that girls are on the downhill grade.

BOOTLEG FLEET IN PLOT TO BREAK UP SEABOARD BLOCKADE

Kidnaping, Murder Threats, And Bribery Put To Use By Liquor Smugglers

BULLETIN

BOSTON, May 8.—A speedboat containing 500 cases of alcohol, attempting to run the blockade in the harbor, was seized and three men arrested today. The speedboat was captured after a chase by a police boat.

NEW YORK, May 8.—With the government's dry armada tightening its blockade on all sides, operations of the "rum fleet" at sea were reported today as almost completely stopped. The situation this morning was this:

1—Conflicting reports have come to the effect that rum row is disintegrating; that the bootleg fleet has been augmented by the arrival of four new ships, one a big German steamer from Hamburg.

2—The dry fleet has converged on the "enemy" from all points along the coast and has adopted the policy of "wearing out" the floating storehouses of contraband goods.

3—Bootleg skippers with a large supply of provisions apparently have decided to hold out in the hope rough weather will force the smaller boats of the "dry" armada, scurrying shoreward.

4—Police boats, patroling the coast and inner harbors, have reported that not a single landing has been made since the beginning of the blockade.

5—Booze prices in New York continued to advance slightly due to the stoppage of landing parties.

6—Thousands of dollars have been offered to enlisted men and officers in the coast guard service to relax their vigilance along certain parts of the coast.

Dry Forces Need Big Fund To Continue Bootleg War

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH

For International News Service

WASHINGTON, May 8.—With the government's spectacular drive against rum runners in full swing off the New York coast, coast guard headquarters here today disclosed that an airtight blockade of ships surrounding America's entire seaboard is contemplated.

Admiral F. C. Billard, commandant of the coast guard, who organized the present rum offensive has mapped out a plan by which all shores of the country and the Great Lakes region can be protected against liquor smugglers.

Increased appropriations will be asked of Congress to carry on the campaign.

SAN QUENTIN, May 8.—Justice exacted another life here today when Ronald Charles Erno, 28, went to the gallows for the murder of Fred Skeen, 20, Siskiyou Indian, October, 1924. Erno's last request, to play a banjo, was denied by prison authorities, who told him to "read the Bible."

William Hard, captured near Los Angeles with Erno after Skeen's killing, was also convicted and sentenced to hang, but Governor Richardson commuted his sentence to life imprisonment when it was proved Hard was under 18.

Trio Of Nations Now Have Entries In Daring Dash Into Arctic Regions

BULLETIN

COPENHAGEN, May 8. — Cloudy and snowy weather today made the start of the polar flight unlikely.

Captain Roald Amundson, Arctic and Antarctic explorer, and Lincoln Ellsworth, Ohio flyer, who will accompany him, were waiting at Spitzbergen with their amphibious airplanes for favorable weather.

The Farm and the Hobby, two ships which will serve as sea bases for airplanes, have started for the rim of the Polar ice with provisions for the flyers. The storm started just after the Farm and Hobby got under way.

By JOHN T. LEWING, JR.

Central Press Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Will the United States be beaten in the air race to the Arctic? It appears possible and even probable.

Three nations have entries in the race. Roald Amundsen, famous explorer, is already at Spitzbergen.

Gettir Algarsson, Canadian, is in England, loading the British blimp with which he hopes to reach the pole.

Meanwhile Donald B. MacMillan and navy fliers are getting ready for their Arctic jaunt.

Algarsson will be in the north a month before MacMillan's party arrives from the United States, which he plans to leave in June.

This means that both Amund-

Dreadnaughts 'Beat Enemy' Leaving Honolulu For Minor Maneuvers

ON BOARD U. S. S. CALIFORNIA, May 8.—The grand fleet of the United States navy sailed the high seas today en route from Honolulu to the islands of Lahaina, where it expects to arrive tomorrow.

With war time conditions prevailing, maneuvers are being held en route to Lahaina, where practice drills will be gone through until May 29, when the fleet will return to Honolulu.

Swinging out into the sea off Pearl harbor yesterday, the great dreadnaughts warded off torpedo and air attacks and made for the open in smart formations, "outwitting" the "enemy."

FRENCH MEET DEFEAT BY RIFFIANS

Tribesmen, Victorious Over Spaniards, Also Call For Recruits

LONDON, May 8.—Twenty thousand fanatical Riffian tribesmen, spurred on by racial and religious hatred and exulting in their victory over the Spanish army in Spanish Morocco, have forced the French army of 12,000 to send a hurry call for reinforcements, despatches from Morocco today said.

French troops under General Columbat have been halted in their advance in the hills of Bibane and French outposts, cut off by Abdel Krim's hordes, are badly in need of food, a despatch to the Morning Post from Tangiers related. General Columbat's forces were trying to revictual the isolated outposts when they encountered resistance from the enemy.

Recruits Called

In the Spanish zone Abdel Krim was reported to have called for recruits from all tribes. He warned the tribe leaders that if the recruits were not forthcoming promptly he would take hostages.

Riffians captured were found to be armed with modern arms and Krim was reported to be organizing a flying corps to keep the French flyers from bombing his forces.

WINTER WHEAT CROP FALLS SHORT

WASHINGTON, May 8.—America's winter wheat crop will be approximately 145,000,000 bushels, or nearly 25 per cent short of last year's crop, the department of agriculture estimated today. Sharply decreased acreage was primarily responsible, reflecting the adverse conditions that prevailed among wheat farmers at planting time because of the low price wheat commanded. Many farmers were unable to buy seed. The yield also will contribute to smaller crop, the forecast being more than a bushel to the acre off.

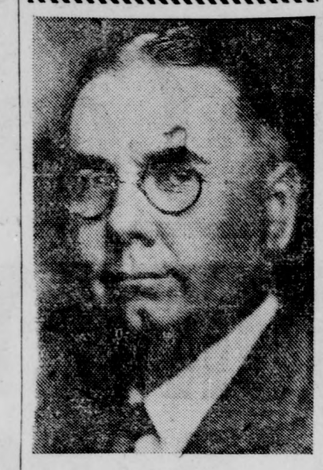
Proprietor

W. O. RICHARDS, who established OUR BOYS' SHOP at 104 West Broadway.



The desire voiced by W. O. Richards, proprietor of Our Boys' shop, 104 West Broadway, to live forever in Glendale, is expressive of the happiness and success Mr. Richards has enjoyed in his business activity in Glendale.

A native Alabaman, Mr. Richards lived twenty years in Oklahoma, where he was engaged the greater part of that time as buyer for the largest mercantile establishment in the state. Before coming to California he was employed by the largest men's and boys' clothing house in Oklahoma, specializing in boys' furnishings. Mr. Richards gives the following interesting interview about his business experience and his coming to California:

"Having determined to go in business for myself I made a trip to California looking for a location. Stopping in Long Beach I spent considerable time looking over and investigating conditions in Southern California.

Opportunities Here

"Of all the different places I visited Glendale seemed to offer better opportunities for an exclusive boys' shop. At that time, however, I did not think that Glendale was quite large enough, being so close to Los Angeles, to support such a shop. Further, I felt the need of California experience, the climatic conditions being so different.

"So I procured a position with one of the largest commercial establishments in Los Angeles, in the boys' department. After having worked in that place about a year and a half Glendale had about doubled in population. I determined that the time was ripe for me to open a boys' shop in Glendale.

Opens Local Shop

"Notwithstanding the fact that some people knocked Glendale and said it couldn't be done, I have made good. While I feel that my success has been partly due to my early training and experience, adaptibility and hard work, I do not throw all the bouquets at myself. I feel that the biggest part of my success has been due to the type of citizens in Glendale. A people, who are home-like, home-loving and loyal to their home city. Likewise a people who are in a very great degree judges of values and know these count.

"I expect to spend the balance of my days in Glendale and, with the continued goodwill and support of the citizens, see Our Boys' shop grow into one of the city's biggest institutions. Some sweet day I not only expect to be looked upon with envy by my competitors, but with commercial pride."

Training for Service

KEEPING pace with America's telephone needs means keeping ahead. The work of preparation never ends.

There must be complex engineering studies, careful financing plans, and thousands of manufacturing operations before new facilities can be built and made ready for public use.

And when they are ready, the workers must also be ready, skilled in the multitude of tasks incident to the operation and maintenance of telephone plant and equipment.

In every important center in the country, new members of the telephone forces are in continuous training, preparing to meet tomorrow's telephone needs.

For your telephone system is a living, growing organism. Last year 836,163 telephones were added to its national service. Millions of miles of wire interlace the continent, to interconnect your telephone with nearly 16,000,000 others. Tomorrow there will be more telephones, for the nation demands and expects them.

OUTLINE PLAN FOR VALLEY BOOSTING

Permanent Organization Of Association To Occur In Short Time

Plans for the permanent organization of the Greater San Fernando Valley association were presented to a large gathering of leading business men of the valley at a meeting at the Hollywood Athletic club.

The plan presented by A. Z. Taft, jr., president of the association, provides for four classes of memberships creating an association strictly representative of the valley property owner and permits all civic organizations, service clubs and women's organizations not operating for private purposes to become a part of the association. Steps to incorporate as a non-profit organization will be taken immediately, Mr. Taft said.

Leaders of the various sections of the valley who have actively taken charge of the campaign to raise $150,000 from property-owners to advertise and develop the major improvement projects of the valley enthusiastically endorsed the organization plan.

Pick Directors

According to the by-laws, which resemble in a great degree the by-laws of the United States Chamber of Commerce, each organization member of the association will be entitled to one member on the board of directors for each fifty members up to and including 200 members. An advisory committee of two has also been provided to be appointed from all organizations. The advisory committee, Mr. Taft said, will constitute the various committees and will advise with the president, executive committee and board of directors concerning the welfare of their particular locality.

An executive committee consisting of fifteen members will be formed by the board of directors with an election of five from the organization directorate, five from the individual membership and five from the associate memberships, representing firms, partnerships or corporations. An annual election will supplant five members of the committee each year.

Campaign Leaders

The organization to raise the $150,000 advertising fund was completed at the meeting with announcements from the eight colonels attending that majors and captains directing the campaign in the fourteen communities of the valley had been commissioned and were completing their team organization.

The colonels in the various sections of the valley include H. H. Dace of San Fernando, Fred Weddington of Lankershim, Frank E. Slattery of Van Nuys, John L. Kirkham of Zelzah, Hugo Carlson of Owensmouth and Alex Jeffrey, general of the west section of the valley.

FEDERATION'S WORK IS TOLD IN REPORT

Mrs. H. F. Croft, Historian, Tells About Activities; Shows Membership Growth And Outlines Various Programs

That Glendale Federation, Parent-Teacher associations, is functioning in harmony with district, state and national departmental units, is seen in the fine report made by Mrs. H. F. Croft, historian of the Federation, at the Federation meeting this week. Mrs. Croft's report, compiled with great care and thought, incorporates activities in every department represented in the individual associations and in the Federation. The report follows:

Glendale Federation, P.-T. A. is part of the First District. Mrs. O. H. Spradling is president, and the thirteen associations and presidents are: Glendale Union high school, Mrs. W. R. Wichert; Glendale Intermediate, Mrs. Mae Rosenberg; Wilson Intermediate, Mrs. Arthur Franklin; Broadway, Mrs. A. G. Evans; Pacific, Mrs. W. G. Lauderdale; Central, Mrs. E. R. Ripley; Magnolia, Mrs. William Leash; Cerritos, Mrs. A. L. Kent; Doran, Mrs. F. G. Lynn; Columbus, Mrs. C. H. Bird; Grandview, Mrs. M. Trowbridge; Colorado, Mrs. Frank Parr; Acacia, Mrs. R. N. Stryker.

Membership

There are 2815 members in the federation this year, as compared with 2496 last year, showing a gain of 319. Cerritos school has 100 per cent membership. The Broadway advanced their dues to fifty cents.

Treasury

Total receipts for the year were $1,021.63. The disbursements have been $869.97, leaving a balance, April 1, 1925, of $151.66.

Founders' Day

Founders' Day was celebrated on February 18, 1925, at Harvard high school, with a birthday cake adorned with twenty-eight candles. Mrs. J. W. Lee, president. First District was the honored guest. Each school contributed a number. About 200 were present.

Magazines-Emblems

There were 127 magazines, "Child Welfare," forty-one emblems and five presidents' pins sold this year. Red Cross News was provided in each room of one school, the Magnolia. Ten copies of the 'Child Welfare" were subscribed to by the federation. A new magazine called "Parent-Teacher" was introduced and gives promise of being popular among P.-T. A. members. The "Child Welfare" magazine is placed each month in public reading rooms. Offices on the list changed each month. A year book was issued by the Federation on the first page of which our president, Mrs. O. H. Spradling stresses two aims: organization and co-operation.

Patriotism

Flag salute led at every P.-T. A. meeting, also at every Federation meeting. One of the schools had a patriotic pageant in which 100 children took part, (Glendale Intermediate School). The change in the form of salute was also observed.

Federation and schools were represented on Armistice Day in the parade. The wording of the Flag pledge was changed thus: the phrase "of America" is to follow the words "United States."

Thrift

Old newspapers were sold by the association and money used to purchase library books for their own libraries, and Christmas candy. A large number of the children are carrying life insurance and saving money in little banks. A stamp machine was procured in one school.

Philanthropy

Clothing, shoes, sheets, pillow cases and cash donations were given to the poor. Quilts and blankets were given to the Community Chest for the needy. Eye treatment, milk, and a rocking chair were presented to one family, by an association. Pictures, additional furnishings for the schools and cooking utensils for cafeterias were contributed by members to their respective schools.

The Federation made a pledge of $1,000 to the Y. M. C. A. building fund to be paid in five years, each association to be assessed $10.00 as the initial payment.

The Federation paid one month's carfare for four children who live outside of the school district.

Child Hygiene

In all schools, cleanliness is watched, and in one school, the Cerritos, a check is made daily to see if hands, face and teeth are clean.

Milk is furnished free to undernourished children in some schools. Five schools have their own cafeterias, and in others hot lunches are served occasionally.

Better Films

Mothers acted as chaperons at Saturday matinees that were especially adapted for children, managers giving passes to those who attend in the name of P.-T. A.

Visiting

Visiting of some local associations is done by room mothers. The Pacific made 150 social calls this year. Acacia made thirty-five calls, and presented ten bouquets of flowers to the sick.

Programs

Federation speakers for the year were, Mrs. G. U. Moyse on enrollment and girls' uniforms; Dr. G. Kaemmerling on control of disease; Richardson D. White, city superintendent, on school bonds.

Association speakers for the year were: Mrs. H. V. Henry, books adapted for the home; Glendale health board, child health; Baroness de Ropp, Americanism; Mrs. O. H. Spradling, P.-T. A. duties; Dr. John Anderson, child welfare; Mrs. Kara Root, probation and juvenile training; Judge Archbald, juvenile protection; Richardson D. White, schools; R. Ernest Tucker, value of summer playgrounds; Mrs. A. A. Barton, education; Dr. L. L. Craven, tonsils and adenoids; Mrs. Alma Danford, books for children; Mrs. F. B. Martin, legislation; Mrs. John Robert White, Jr., child labor.

Federation does not aim to enlarge on programs, as its meetings are board meetings, strictly for business. Several of the associations have held "Fathers' Night" meetings. In most schools children participate in programs.

Finances

Federation realized $60.00 as a result of a card party given at a members' home, and will have a benefit performance in May.

Associations raised money through membership and newspaper drives, card parties, radio teas, cafeteria proceeds, theater performances, picture shows, soda at football games, food and candy sales. The Acacia school compiled a cook book for sale. The Glendale Intermediate has taken out an insurance policy for their cafeteria employees.

Education

The Grand View Reading circle was organized this year, an outgrowth of the nationally known Mutual Benefit Reading circle, of which Mrs. H. V. Henry is chairman. The reading circle is sometimes called the "training school" for P.-T. A.'s, where the best books on child training are read and discussed. Libraries have been started in both Cerritos and Columbus schools. Book week was observed in all of the schools and some children entered the book plate contest. Wilson school entertained 800 visitors during "Education" week. In one school the Elson Art Exhibit was held and well attended.

Kindergarten

Demonstrations of kindergarten work, phonetics, and first and second grade reading was given in the Central school.

The Acacia school has a kindergarten Mothers' club, auxiliary to the P.-T. A. with its own officers, chairmen and dues. They raised $150.00 and bought additional kindergarten equipment.

Community

Federation sponsored the entertainment given by Miss Helen Keller at the Broadway high school. Miss Keller spoke under the auspices of the American Foundation for the Blind. University Extension Course of Lectures by Dr. F. P. Voellmer and other noted speakers, were also sponsored by the Federation.

Federation is a member of the following local organizations: Chamber of Commerce; Glendale Welfare Council; Glendale Y. M. C. A.; Citizen's Bond Committee on schools. A traffic committee was organized this year by the Federation which was instrumental in securing adoption by the Glendale City Council, of an ordinance placing safety lanes in the vicinity of schools for the protection of children. Each school contributed $5.00 toward the school bond campaign this year, and furnished canvassing committees.

Legislation

Ratification of the Child Labor amendment by the California Legislature, was accomplished this year.

Juvenile

This department is connected with the office of compulsory education, and we have had Miss Edith Burleigh, of Child's Guidance speak in two associations on this subject.

CLUB WOMEN HEAR TALK ON BIBLE

Thursday Afternoon Society Holds Regular Meeting And Program

The Thursday Afternoon club of Glendale held its regular meeting yesterday at the home of Mrs. A. L. Bancroft, 1423 South Brand boulevard. Mrs. Dan Campbell, junior past-president of the Tuesday Afternoon club, who was a guest and speaker, spoke on "A Book I Love," a treatise prepared from her own study and research of the Bible. She pointed out its value as history and called it the "first legislation affecting women's property rights; the first love story; the first prayer recorded in connection with a love-story; and the first example of a father's interest in the future family welfare of his son."

Mrs. Campbell told how the Bible is being turned out today in large numbers by a publishing house erected on the spot, in Londer, where it was once collected and given over to the flames. She wove her theme like a silver thread through the story in the lives of many characters including Hannah, the praying mother; Sarah, the pioneer; David, and his Psalms; Matthew, the tax-gatherer; Mark, the servant; Luke, the beloved physician; John, the disciple; Paul, the philosopher; its place as a history of nations and story of Kings.

Bible Study Urged

She prefaced her talk with reference to the president of the General Federation of Women's clubs, who is urging club women, to take up, under the home department, the study of the Bible in the club and in the home. She recalled the days when the Bible held the place of honor on the family sitting-room table, saying: "It is the home that is going to influence the United States and it is toward the United States that the eyes of the whole world are turning today. We must, as true club women, supposedly intelligent and up-to-date, give heed to the urge of our president of the general federation, and try through study to bring the Bible back into our lives."

Mrs. Carrie Campbell, president, conducted the business meeting, which opened with the flag salute, led by Mrs. Al Vaulet, who also played the accompaniment for singing of "America." Minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. M. C. Newton. Mrs. Vaulet, corresponding secretary, read a letter from Mrs. Evelyn G. Pierce, expressing appreciation of the honorary membership, recently presented to her by the club. Announcement was made that the proposed May festival would be postponed until the last week of June.

Election Candidates

Report of Mrs. S. J. Vantine, chairman of the nominating committee, was formally accepted. Candidates for election follow:

Mrs. Carrie Campbell, president; Mrs. Wm. C. Mabry, first vice-president; Mrs. J. W. Sharpe, second vice-president; Mrs. M. C. Newton, secretary; Mrs. S. N. Brown, treasurer; Mrs. Al Vaulet, corresponding secretary. The election will take place at the next club meeting, to be held at the home of Mrs. Harry Ryan, 1425 Highland avenue.

The president announced that Miss Hazel Campbell would give a dramatic entertainment for the benefit of the club, Saturday night, May 16, at the K. P. hall. Music will be furnished by the Hawaiian orchestra of the Piggly Wiggly Co. Mrs. M. N. Barnes and Mrs. Al Vaulet will be in

SENIOR CLASS PLAY OPENS AT SCHOOL

Students Score Success In 'Seventeen' at Broadway; Will Repeat Tonight

William Baxter, the youthful lover of the fictional success, "Seventeen," with a whole coterie of other youthful characters, created by Booth Tarkington, American author-humorist, appeared behind the footlights last night at Broadway High school, where members of the senior class, under the direction of Harold L. Brewster, gave a most artistic production of the play, "Seventeen." The play will be given again tonight.

"Seventeen" is a romance of American youth, in which a youth of 17 falls madly in love with a city girl, who is visiting his home town. It is a play splendidly adapted for juvenile dramatic work, and Mr. Brewster and the local cast give a presentation worthy of praise.

Leading Roles

Walton Andrews, as William Baxter, creates a character that wins the interest and sympathy of his audience. He is very clever in his expression of affection for the fickle butterfly, Lola, who flirts with every boy who comes along. It is around the puppy-love affair of these two that the plot is woven. Miss Winifred Brewer as Lola is all that could be desired in the way of a "baby-talk" girl. Each one of the cast has sensed the satirical intent of the author, and emphasizes it in the various scenes of the play.

Particularly pleasing are the stage settings, a feature being the porch exterior.

Other members of the cast are: Mr. Baxter, Jack Alvord; Joe Bullitt, Wesley Pomeroy; Genesis

ATWATER BOY SCOUT CLUBHOUSE ASSURED

Improvement Association Officials to See Preliminary Sketches Monday Night; Work on Rough Plans

Preliminary sketches of the proposed Boy Scout clubhouse to be built for scouts of the Atwater district will be shown to officers of the Atwater Improvement association when they meet in executive session next Monday night.

The rough plans for the Scout building are now being drawn. They call for a structure 50x100 feet in dimensions, with a large auditorium and gym room, kitchen, lockers, stage and other features.

According to the plan of Arthur M. Gilman, the "father" of the Boy Scout clubhouse, all labor on the building will be done by craftsmen of the district gratis. Materials for the structure will be purchased with money donated by popular subscription.

The Scout building will be located on the property of the Neighborhood Christian church, just back of the present church building. Through Rev. J. W. Utter, pastor, permission to use this land has been secured from the Christian church authorities in Los Angeles.

Will Reorganize Club

Declaring that, with only two men remaining in the race, the issue in the City Council campaign in the First district has become clear-cut and of importance that more directly affects the voters of the district, P. E. Lipscomb announced yesterday that the Atwater Wardlaw-for-Council club will be reorganized immediately, and that an active campaign to secure Mr. Wardlaw's election will be made.

"The vote in the Atwater section was split between Mr. Wardlaw and E. E. Lampton, an Atwater resident. Now that Mr. Lampton is out of the race, we believe the Lampton vote will swing to Mr. Wardlaw, who has manifested such a deep interest in affairs of Atwater Park. There were hundreds of voters who felt it their duty to vote for an Atwater man as long as he was in the race. The issue becomes more clear-cut and will be fought out solely on merit from this point forward, I believe."

Mr. Lipscomb said that a meeting of Wardlaw supporters will be called in the very near future.

School Plans Are Ready

Blue prints and specifications for the $80,000 addition to the Atwater Grammar school are now in the hands of the city engineer for checking, Miss Rosalind Gates, school principal, said today, and will be ready to advertise for bids as soon as they are returned from the engineer's office. It is expected the plans will be sent back to the school board within a few days, she said.

Approximately five months will be required from the time the contract is let until the building is completed, Miss Gates said. In order to avoid disturbing school classes as much as possible, intensive construction work will be carried on during the vacation months.

Personals From District

George Daniels, Atwater avenue, is in the California Lutheran hospital, recovering from another operation upon his foot, performed Wednesday night. Mr. Daniels will be brought home Saturday.

A number of friends were entertained Wednesday night at a card party at the home of Mrs. L. J. Buckley, 3270 Glendale boulevard.

During twenty-five years of residence in Glendale the Nortons have made many friends, all of whom honored them on their golden wedding two years ago, and on succeeding anniversaries. On Wednesday they received many gifts and messages, among them being bouquets from the Sons of Veterans, the J. O. C. class of the First Methodist church, and John Wilde.

Among the dinner guests were Mrs. Norton's sister, Mrs. F. W. EVERY MAN MUST—

Learn to like his neighbors if he has to live with them.
Tell less than he knows if he wants to keep friends.
Keep some things sacred if life is to be kept worthy.
Store up some big ideas if old age is not to be distressingly lonely.
Accept the responsibility for his own decisions.
Face his own conscience even if he escapes the law.

SCARS

A scar is not a beautiful thing, whether it is on the body or the soul, and yet a scar is not without its uses, for does not a burned child dread the fire? A physician will tell you that scar tissue does not function, yet nature does not tolerate waste, and even scars are turned to account in the scheme of things.

Someone uses the trees to illustrate the point that Nature does not use straight lines to achieve her effects. One tree grows straight and clean and fine, without a scar or a limb within forty feet of the ground. Its wood is useful, but contains no beauty. The cabinetmaker scorns it. Another tree meets with adversity. The lightning strikes it or the storm tears its limbs from it and they fall, leaving empty sockets. As the years pass, the tree covers these blemishes with its bark. Some of the majestic redwoods of California have disfiguring burls or growths, varying from a few inches to several feet in diameter, but these scars and burls are the things that make the wood beautiful. These clusters of whirls and curves and splashes of color are the grain in the wood that is so much sought after.

Nearly every life has scars. A few grow straight and clean, but the average person is scarred by his follies and his weaknesses. The years may hide them, but they are there, and if he can learn humility from contemplating them, they are not entirely useless. If they are for him the source of charity, tolerance and compassion for the mistakes of others, they are things of beauty.

MEN SLAVES OF STYLE

Much is said, both in serious and humorous vein, about women being dominated by fashion. But, when all is said and done, women's styles are not nearly so arbitrary as men's. The truth is, a woman can wear almost anything (or almost nothing) these days and get away with it. She has an unlimited range of fabrics, colors and styles from which to choose. She may wear velvets and furs in summer and chiffon and lace hose in winter. It is getting so it is almost impossible for a woman to attract attention by her dress, for nothing she can put on is considered unsuitable these days. If she chooses she can don her spring hat on Christmas day or she can wear the same hat the year 'round, although she never does, as all married men know.

But with a man it is different. His styles are fixed and arbitrary. For a certain occasion his suit must be cut over a certain pattern and the range of colors and fabrics is limited. There is a definite day on which he may don a straw hat in the spring and a definite day when he must discard it in September. If he dares to wear his summer lid beyond this date he is hooted off the street. It is men and not women who are slaves of fashion.

HAVE YOU SOMETHING COMING?

We Americans have the name of being on the alert when there is money coming to us, if at no other time, but the facts do not bear out this reputation. Some of us find it too much trouble to stretch out our hands to take what is being handed to us. The government is holding thousands of dollars belonging to income taxpayers as a refund on last year's taxes because they cannot be found. They have moved since they paid their taxes and have not applied for the refund.

Likewise, there are something like a million and a half veterans of the World war who have not applied for the bonus that Congress voted them. Sixty-four veterans have notified the government they will not accept the bonus, others have not applied because they are opposed to the principle of the bonus or the nature of it, but the great majority of those who have not been heard from are merely guilty of procrastination.

PERSONAL INTEREST

Unless workers have a personal interest in the job they will not give energy or enthusiasm to it. The story is told of the excavations being made at ancient Carthage and how the African laborers shirked the job. So the excavators conceived the idea of taking moving pictures of the progress of the work. Every digger worked assiduously and there was a rush of volunteers. African workmen proved to be as movie-mad as American flappers. The incident serves to throw an interesting sidelight on human nature. It explains why the boss works so hard with no one to make him do so. It explains why the artist, the scholar, the explorer and the scientist work without hope of reward. Personal interest is the only incentive to effort, beyond the necessary minimum that the job demands, and it is also the element in any task that makes it a pleasure instead of drudgery.

BOND OR FREE?

Gen. Pilsudski, Poland's first chief of state, has deserted politics for bees and some newspapers are finding humor in the situation. There is a tendency to hold in greater esteem the one who reaches a high place in politics or finance or art than the one who has learned the secret of living. Pilsudski, as a statesman, was a servant of the public and while his bees may buzz around his head at times like angry voters, they are working for the beekeeper, not the beekeeper for them. The man in business, the artist, the writer, the politician, even to the party boss, are slaves of the public and the more successful they are, the greater their bondage, for so much more is expected of them. Only the man who works with nature is really free.

The train-caller doubtless is a linguist, but nobody ever seems to know which language he is using.

Perhaps you have observed that the nearer wrong a man is, the more impatient he is of criticism.

Some men are forever out of repair, and some are dry agents and get "fixed" once in a while.

The country is safe while the average man can cuss the government so intelligently.

Prudence: The shorter way of saying "safety first." Synonym: Virtue.

A HORSE APIECE !

"Friends With Life"

By DR. FRANK CRANE

A book entitled "Friends with Life," has been published by Anne C. E. Allinson, one time dean of women in the University of Wisconsin.

The gist of the book is probably contained in the following quotation:

"The early Greeks had too keen an intelligence and too much freedom of judgment to fail to perceive all there is of darkness in man's condition, and of injustice and pain sometimes in the march of events—and yet the Greek race was, more than any other, a friend of life."

We are put into this strange existence, we have no choice as to when or how. The conditions of existence are struggle against opposing obstacles. Whatever may be the eventuation of this struggle, the end, after a while, is death.

It is essential, in the meanwhile, that we shall be friendly. This means friendly both to events, to the laws of nature, and to those around us.

This is what faith means. Faith is that large and generous attitude toward all men and all things which believes in them and gives them credit for helpfulness, which overlooks the adverse and emphasizes the favorable.

There is a relation between optimism toward events and the laws of nature on the one hand and faith in man on the other.

Both imply a friendly attitude on the part of the individual.

It is useless to speculate as to whether this attitude is justified by the facts or not. What is of value is that one gets much more out of life by being friendly, and one is helped much more by believing in people than by distrusting them, and that one is much more likely to make a successful career by taking optimism as his underlying attitude.

Mrs. Allinson tells a story of a little boy who dreamed every night of a tiger. He was so terrified that his nervous system was threatened. A psychologist said to him one day: "See here my boy, I hear that you meet a tiger every night. Now he is really a nice, friendly tiger and wants you to like him. Next time you meet him just hold out your hand and say 'Hello, old chap,' and you will see."

The child put this advice into practice, and very soon he ceased dreaming of the tiger and was restored to his normal health.

If all of us held out our hand and said, "Hello, old chap," to the monstrous and ungenial we would stand a much better show of getting along better with life.

The way to make events and men and nature friendly to us is to be friendly to them.

Horoscope

Astrologers read this as an unusually unfortunate day, since Saturn, Mars, the Sun, Venus and Neptune are all in evil place.

Adverse vibrations dominate through all the morning hours, making business more than usually hazardous.

It is well to stick to routine matters and to project the most forceful of good thoughts.

The afternoon should be favorable for banks and railroads, which are to attain more and more power over the affairs of the people, for they will own many diversified interests.

Legal and educational matters may be pursued without any fear of obstruction under this direction of the stars.

It is well not to enter into any sort of a quarrel today, for the nerves will be high strung and bitter resentment is easily aroused.

Tendency to stress the importance of personality will be manifested in a manner that is the strongest sort of egotism, while this planetary government prevails, it is foretold.

All the artistic professions may be marked by great selfishness on the part of those who have succeeded and for this reason young persons may have unusual difficulty in obtaining recognition.

Labor will be more and more dissatisfied in certain parts of the country, while in other sections dearth of workers may be great.

After 7 o'clock this evening conditions probably will change for the better; professional persons and those in municipal positions should benefit.

Legal and educational matters come under a good direction of the stars tonight and meetings in the interest of law colleges should be especially successful.

Amusements and social entertainments of the lighter sort are subject to good planetary influences tonight.

Persons whose birthdate it is may have rather a serious struggle the coming year. They should be wise in love affairs.

Children born on this day may be inclined to follow the lines of least resistance. These subjects of Taurus are usually most fortunate in money affairs. They prosper because of good luck rather than good management.

Today's Poem

THE CONSTANT LOVER

Out upon it, I have loved
Three whole days together,
And am like to love three more,
If it prove fair weather.

Time shall moult away his wings
Ere he shall discover
In the whole world again
Such a constant lover.

But the spite on 't is, no praise
Is due at all to me:
Love with me had made no stays
Had it any been but she.

Had it any been but she,
And that very face,
There had been at least ere this
A dozen dozen in her place.

The Best of Advice

By CLARK KINNAIRD

BORN GOOD?

We are not among those who believe in the old dogma,—"all children are born good."

CLARK KINNAIRD

Nor do we agree with those who think that, by skillful discipline, children may be made altogether what they should be; that Loeb and Leopold would have been better boys if only they had been "raised" differently.

Contrariwise, we are satisfied that, though imperfections of nature may be diminished by wise management, they cannot be removed by it.

This is Herbert Spencer's view. He opined that the notion that an ideal humanity might be forthwith produced by a perfect system of education, is near akin to that shadowed forth in the poems of Shelley, that would mankind give up its old institutions, prejudices, and errors, all the evils in the world would at once disappear. Neither notion is acceptable to such as have dispassionately studied human affairs.

Not that Spencer was without sympathy with those who entertain these hopes.

"Enthusiasm, pushed even to fanaticism, is a useful motive-power—perhaps an indispensable one. It is clear that the ardent politician would never undergo the labors and make the sacrifices he does, did he not believe the reform he fights for is the one thing needful. But for his conviction that drunkenness is the root of all evils, the teetotaller would agitate far less energetically. In philanthropy as in other things great disadvantage results from division of labor, each class of philanthropists must be more or less subordinated to its function—must have an exaggerated faith in its work.

"Hence, of those who regard education, intellectual or moral, as the panacea, their undue expectations are not without use; and perhaps it is part of the beneficent order of things that their confidence cannot be shaken."

Even if it were true, Spencer observes, that by some possible system of moral government children could be moulded into the desired form; and even could every parent be duly indoctrinated with this system, we should still be far from achieving the object in view.

"It is forgotten that the carrying out of any such system, presupposes, on the part of adults, a degree of intelligence, of goodness, of self-control possessed by no one.

"The great error made by those who discuss questions of juvenile discipline, is in ascribing all the faults and difficulties to the children, and none to the parents."

This is a subject about which we will have more to say—and quote—later.

Timely Views

The danger of the tendency toward the centralization of power in the Federal government was emphasized recently by Representative Ogden L. Mills of New York.

Rep. Mills said that three main causes underlie the centralization process, the desire for uniformity; the fact that it was easier to persuade Congress of the desirability of a particular reform than the Legislatures of forty-eight states and the fact that it was cheaper for many states to have the federal government undertake a particular task than to do it themselves, because the larger and more wealthy states paid the bulk of the federal taxes.

Mills said he considered complete uniformity of laws in a country so large as the United States, with a diversified population and different economic conditions, as undesirable. One of the greatest difficulties in the enforcement of the prohibition law, he said, was the almost unanimous resentment of entire communities at the attempt to regulate their mode of living by legally making a crime something that heretofore had not been even considered a question of morality.

"There is need for a reclarification of our ideas on the subject, a fresh delineation of federal, state and local jurisdictions," he continued, "and for a sound and well-balanced popular conception of the respective duties and resources of federal, state and municipal government, always remembering that, no matter how desirable and sound our governmental structure may be, the citizen is even more important, and that the highest type of citizenship is best developed and fostered through the popular control of local institutions."

Who's Who

Appreciating the fact that the commercial development of South America is directly related to road conditions there the International Good Roads association is to hold its conference, drawing representatives from practically every nation, in Buenos Aires late this year.

A year ago a delegation of civic and commercial leaders from South America came to the U. S. for the purpose of inspecting roads, road building methods and general road problems here with a view toward starting a road expansion program. The selection of Buenos Aires for the convention was a direct result of this visit.

President Coolidge has named Representative William E. Hull of Peoria, Ill., as the official representative of the United States at the conference.

Hull has been a champion of hard roads for fifteen years and is given much of the credit for obtaining $160,000,000 in bond issues for road improvement work in his state.

He is a member of the board of directors of the Illinois Highway Improvement association.

He was born in Lewiston, Fulton county, Ill., January 13, 1866. He cut short his college career at Lewiston and Illinois college to begin work as a government gauger. Later he entered the hotel business and now is president of a large chemical company.

His first public office was that of postmaster at Peoria. He was elected to congress for the first time two years ago.

Extra Hours of Leisure Every Month

—What Could You Do With Them?

HERE'S an hour instead of "15 minutes a day" in which to improve yourself—an hour during which you can read your paper, or some instructive book that you have had in mind to read but for which you "haven't found the time."

Do it on a Red Car in a comfortable seat as you ride to town.

This use of the big Red Cars does more than offer you an occasion for good reading.

It allows relaxation after breakfast and before dinner at night. That alone improves some men's digestion 100%.

It permits walking several blocks to and from the cars, promoting regular daily exercise in the fresh air. Many men make it a rule to walk four or five blocks beyond their nearest corner before they board the car.

So these extra hours every month are full of golden opportunities—for cultural improvement, keeping up with current events, better business ideas, more comfort and ease and better health.

Try the Red Car way to business for two weeks and see how you like it.

Use the big Red Cars to get you down to work on time. Enjoy the freedom of this mode of transportation to business every day. Regard the time between your home and office as extra leisure to use for pleasure and for profit.

Election of officers took place yesterday afternoon at the meeting of Pacific P.-T. A. at the school, with Mrs. W. G. Lauderdale, retiring president, in charge. New officers elected are: Mrs. F. M. Butterfield, president; Mrs. H. M. Parker, vice-president; Mrs. Robert Kimball, secretary; Mrs. Leslie Tronsier, treasurer; Mrs. W. H. Peart, historian; Mrs. Kate McKellar, auditor. Installation of newly-elected officers will be held at the federation luncheon the second Wednesday in June. Members of the nominating committee were Mesdames Fannie Stone, Dean Phillips, Lathrop, George Squires and B. Bolen.

The meeting opened with salute to the flag under direction of Mrs. R. H. Kimball, patriotic chairman, followed by singing of the P.-T. A. song. Mrs. Don Lindley, secretary, read the minutes of a previous meeting. Pictures of George Washington and Abraham Lincoln, recently purchased by the association for the school, were shown for the first time. The room count showed that Miss Beatrice A. Sarse's room would receive the first picture and Mrs. Marjorie L. Paup's room, second. Announcement was made that Mrs. W. G. Lauderdale would attend the state convention, which convenes in Fresno next Tuesday. Mrs. F. M. Butterfield will open her home at 121 West Maple avenue, on May 21, for an afternoon of cards and music. One-hundred tickets were given to members to sell for the affair. Members were reminded of the May penny drive, now in progress. Report was made that $60 was made from the recent paper drive. Anyone wishing to attend the district conferences at Venice Polytechnic high, May 28, should call Mrs. W. G. Lauderdale or Mrs. Dean Phillips and they will arrange for means of transportation.

Musical numbers were furnished by Mrs. W. H. Peart and Mrs. Glenn Dolberg, who sang "Land of Long Ago" (Lillian Ray) and "Dewy Morn" (Wilson) with Mrs. Paul Butterfield as accompanist. Harriett Horton Kapp, manager of Barker Bros.' home-planning bureau, was present and gave an instructive talk on better homes and the children in the home. A successful food sale was held in the court by Mrs. H. M. Parker, financial chairman. Refreshments were served in the cafeteria by Mrs. Ross Mesecher, hospitality chairman.

Doran

New officers were elected yesterday afternoon at the meeting of Doran Parent-Teacher association at the school. Mrs. Roy L. Adamson was elected president. Other officers are: Mrs. S. A. Mrs. Clark Johnson gave a report of the first district convention in Los Angeles April 17 and 18. Mrs. Ada Lynn, president, had charge of the meeting.

Newly-elected officers are planning to attend the district conference at Venice Polytechnic High school May 28. A program was presented by pupils of the school. Songs were sung by the kindergarten and by pupils of Miss Agnes Tupper's and Miss Grace Smith's rooms.

Readings were given by Marle Eggleston and Barbara Green, and a piano solo by Pauline Hatch.

COMMENT by GIL A. COWAN

Mothers will be remembered by dutiful sons and daughters Sunday. And from Glendale the past week hundreds of reminders have been mailed to the "old nest" that will tell of the love someone has for "Mother."

Last-minute telegrams by the hundreds also will be filed from here, while in the homes where Mother lives the day will be most joyous, with children and grandchildren gathered 'round.

Mothers never can be too richly rewarded, and words of praise utterly fail to convey a proper tribute to them. But, lightly speaking, a mother has written:

"A mother is the present every baby receives on its first birthday."

Yes, and it is an everlasting gift of love and good-will.

Glendale young men who have the time and inclination to attend a citizens' military training camp at Del Monte or Fort Winfield Scott, this summer, should make up their minds to enroll at once.

Fifteen hundred young men are going to attend these camps as the guests of Uncle Sam. They will be afforded a month's vacation such as few could otherwise obtain. Surprisingly few, however, from this community of 50,000 have signified their intention of going.

The hour is late. If you are red-blooded and ambitious, and desire the benefits to be derived from an army officer's training, get in touch with Major C. L. Wyman, 430 Piedmont court, or the writer, Gil A. Cowan, of The Glendale Evening News staff, for full information.

"Better Homes Week" will be widely observed May 10 to 17. It provides a challenge for Glendale, where the many fine homes are already near the zenith of perfection.

Also, it should give impetus to the building of more homes in Glendale. It brings to the mind of the person who occcupies a shabby shack the necessity of painting, planting flowers, and making his or her place one of beauty. The Riverside Press editor says:

"When you improve your homes you lift up the people who dwell in them."

C. C. Secretaries To Officiate As Judges

Secretaries Howard I. Wood of Glendale Chamber of Commerce, C. W. Charleville of Burbank and George Bunton of Van Nuys will be the official judges at the Ventura May Pageant scheduled for May 13 at Ventura. The San Fernando valley representatives will be guests of the Rotary club at lunch, participating later in the afternoon in the dedication of a new children's beach playground and acting in their official capacity as judges at the style show at night.

ANSWERS TO MOTHERS

Exercises for Flat Feet

Mrs. K.—You should take your little 3-year-old girl who has extremely flat feet, to an orthopedic surgeon and get specific directions for her case.

Until you can do that, begin immediately to have her walk toeing in, five to ten minutes a day, and have her rise on the toes, for three or four minutes at a time, three or four times a day. Let her try to pick up marbles, pencils, etcetera, with her toes. Make a little game of it.

Massage her feet also and then exercise them. Have her sit in front of you on a stool; take her feet in your lap and massage them. After this, grasp the toes and bend them downward, then bend the foot down and turn it upward and inward. A second exercise is to do this same exercise and then give a strong upward push on the sole of the foot, holding the heel firmly to prevent the knee from bending.

I don't know whether she needs special shoes made to order or not. If not, have her wear the good common sense shoes that all children should wear—you can get the orthopedic shoes in any large shoe store. These have a straight inner border, wide shank, roomy upper, low broad heel and round or square toe.

Birthmarks

"Dear Doctor Peters: May I have a copy of your pamphlet on Diet during Pregnancy? Perhaps I am not eating enough, for I am nearing the end of my term and do not show it. I have no appetite.

"I lifted the remains of a pail of coal, opened the lids of the stove and dumped it in. The coal had oil on it and on touching the fire, flared up into my face. They tell me my child will have one of the big red birthmarks covering a side of its face. Please tell me, will it? I am dreadfully worried. —Mrs. P."

Isn't this one of the cruelest things you ever heard? It seems a shame that such thoughtlessness can exist.

That accident will NOT mark your baby, Mrs. P. There is no direct nerve or blood connection between the mother and babe in utero, and this thing of marking babies we consider pure superstition. Babies do happen to have birthmarks, but they are not due to anything of this nature.

What causes birthmarks? We do not know. Nature is not perfect by any means and she sometimes slips up a bit, but she certainly has arranged everything for the protection of the baby against injury. If there were some members in your family—remote or immediate—who have birthmarks of this nature, your baby may have them, but I repeat, they will NOT be caused by your accident.

Now about your eating. Most of the time I have to talk about overeating, but here's a case where I shall have to do the reverse.

You must eat enough to get the elements you and your baby need. You should have at least one quart of milk a day, for its calcium, phosphorus, complete protein and vitamins, and you should have a liberal supply of greens and fruits, some nuts, whole grain cereals and breads and you should have enough for the two of you. You can gain from fifteen to twenty pounds more while carrying your baby. More than that is not necessary.

Now, do forget that accident!

Tomorrow—Answers to Correspondents.

My Dear Followers:—When sending for material which we offer you please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible; if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s.a.s.e., if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

Last week I wrote about canning asparagus in a pressure canner. Today's chat is for the woman who cannot afford to buy a pressure canner and must do her canning in her washboiler.

Asparagus is one of the four vegetables which is most difficult to can (the other three being peas, corn and beans—both string and lima). The following directions are based on the assumption that the altitude of the housekeeper's location is below 1000 feet, should increase the time of processing at the rate of ten per cent for each additional 500 feet (when using this water-bath method.)

For the four most difficult vegetables to can, I recommend the following intermittent, or three-period method by which the jars are processed for one hour on three successive days rather than being processed all on one day.

Begin by washing young stalks, drain, and tie them in small bunches. Hold lower ends in boiling water two or three minutes, then submerge the entire bunch in the same water for an instant, and pack the stalks into hot glass jars at once (omitting the old "cold-dripping" process. U. S. government experts now point out that the heat penetrates to the center of the jar more quickly, after the jar has been put into the wash-boiler, if the product was packed hot, not cold; for this same reason—heat penetrating to the center—it is wise to use the smaller, pint-size jars rather than the quart-size).

I assume that you have sterilized the jars, previously, by boiling them, empty, in water to cover, for fifteen minutes. Put on new rubbers, and sterilized glass caps, after you have packed the jars with the stalks, added one teaspoon of salt, and filled the jar to within one-fourth inch of top with boiling water (use the water in which the bunches were boiled). Next, put top wire up but do not press down side wire. Stand jar in your wash-boiler, on rack, in boiling water and let water boil around and over it, for one hour; remove, press down side wire, and let stand in room-temperature over night. In the morning process it another hour just as before, after raising side wire; again press down the wire and let stand over night. The third day repeat the process, and store after pressing down side wire for the third and last time.

Be sure to use YOUR full name, street number, and the name of your city and state.—The Editor.

HAIR TONICS

Most of my readers, I believe, have a copy of the pilocarpine hair tonic, which I have been recommending for several years as the very best tonic I know about. However, there is no harm in giving it again, so the formula follows:

Pilocarpine hydrochlorate	2 grains
Precipitated sulphur	30 grains
Detergent	30 drops
Castor oil	10 drops
Alcohol (95 per cent)	4 ounces
Tincture of cantharides	4 drams
Cologne	4 drams
Rose water, to make	8 ounces

In this form the tonic is particularly for hair that has lost its color, or for hair that is turning gray. It is much cheaper and is still an excellent tonic if made up as directed with the pilocarpine left out; this way it will stimulate a thicker growth of hair, help cure dandruff, but will not affect the coloring.

At this season the hair is apt to come out, so that a good tonic is advisable, whether there is anything wrong with the scalp or not. I think the most common trouble in spring is dandruff, which is, perhaps, a reaction against the poor treatment all hair gets during the winter. If your hair is not already bobbed, clip off several inches from the ends, then rub the scalp vigorously with crude oil, heated as much as your scalp can take it. Rub this in with an electric vibrator if you have one, if not, by extra thorough massage with the finger tips, and next morning shampoo, using any sort of good soap and putting a few drops of an antiseptic in the final rinse water. Repeat this shampoo a week later, and probably the dandruff will disappear.

Helen N.: I think you may be fattening the lips by applying so much oil to them. The condition is only a temporary one, and if you stop using the pomade the lips will resume their former size.

Fever sores come from a bad stomach, usually, but you can dry them up as they form if you keep them wet with spirits of camphor.

Have You Used This Tonic?

Wandering E.: A daily full bath relieves the pores so those of the complexion are not so active, and there is a gradual refining of the texture of the skin.

Tomorrow—Blackheads

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

OLD WEST DRAMA IS GATEWAY FILM

Zane Grey's 'Thundering Herd' Today, Tomorrow At Popular Theatre

Two great "rushes" across the continent mark the history of the west's development. The first was the rush of the forty-niners from the east to the gold fields of California and the free lands of Oregon. The second was the rush of '76 by the farmers of the Misssissippi valley to the buffalo fields of Montana and Wyoming.

It is this latter rush that forms the theme of Zane Grey's "The Thundering Herd," showing at the Gateway theatre today and Saturday.

The picture vividly recreates the old west of fifty years ago. Throughout the plains of the mid-west huge herds of buffalo roamed at will. Then, in the spring of 1876, news spread that the hides were bringing as much as $3 each in the east. Immediately there was a rush. Persons from all over the country and from all walks of life started for the buffalo fields. Perhaps the greatest influx was from Illinois, Indiana and Ohio.

Story of West

The story of "The Thundering Herd" tells of the journey of a group of hardy men and women from their farms in the east to the vast uncivilized territory of the far west—of the hardships they suffered, of the dangers they encountered, the obstacles they overcame and of their ultimate success when they arrived at their destination. Two of the mighty scenes in the production show a battle between 500 Indians and a handful of white men and a mad stampede of 2000 buffalo.

A talented cast has been assembled, headed by four featured players—Jack Holt, Lois Wilson, Noah Beery and Raymond Hatton.

Memorial Stamps At Glendale Postoffice

Supplies of the 1, 2 and 5-cent Lexington-Concord memorial stamps, issued in limited quantities by the postal department in commemoration of the 150th anniversary of the Battle of Lexington, were received at the Glendale postoffice today. The stamps will be sold to persons asking specially for them. No general distribution of the issues will be made anywhere, however, George Hallett, assistant postmaster, said, as the supplies are limited.

The memorial stamps are not the regulation size, but are oblong. They are engraved with views of the Continental army assembling and making ready for the battle that opened the Revolutionary war. The 1-cent stamp is printed in green. Red is used for the 2-cent issue and blue for the 5-cent stamps.

Civil Service Exams For Laborers June 6

Examinations for postoffice laborers will be conducted at the Glendale postoffice on June 6, Norman Ashcroft, civil service secretary, announced today. Applications must be filled out by those wishing to take the examinations on or before May 27 and filed with Mr. Ashcroft at the postoffice.

FROM EAGLE ROCK

EAGLE ROCK, May 8.—Page Noll of the Eagle Rock Music Co. missed by about five miles the recent disastrous tornado that swept Florida and other southeastern states. Noll recently returned with his family, after touring the country by automobile. During the tornado, Noll said, he was forced to drive over a roadway flanked on both sides by the sea, in torrents of rain that rendered many automobiles useless.

William Larson, jr., as a magician will be the feature of the vaudeville show to be given by the League of Youth of the Congregational church this month. The Harmony Trio, a group from Occidental college, will also take part in the program.

A "midget wedding" will be held tonight in the auditorium of the Eagle Rock school under the auspices of the girl reserves of the First Presbyterian church. About sixty children ranging in age from 2 to 8 years will take part.

An addition to the Eagle Rock library to cost $25,000 will be erected from funds received from the sale of the proposed $1,000,000 bond issue to be voted on at the June election. The Los Angeles board of library commissioners has requested that such an issue be placed on the ballot.

Western Film

William Desmond, star of "Straight Through," showing at GLENDALE THEATRE; five-act bill on vaudeville stage

Comedy, love, melodrama, fighting and hard riding are combined to make entertainment in "Straight Through," a western starring William Desmond to be shown today and tomorrow at the Glendale theatre.

Desmond is cast as Good-Deed O'Day, a bad man of the mining camps who, by a strange twist of conscience, was induced to reform. Ruth Stonehouse, who plays the sister, played an important part in "The Girl of the Limberlost" one of this year's successful picture plays.

It is a thrilling story told with dramatic intensity, relieved by some pleasing comedy. In addition to the melodrama and comedy there is some wild horsemanship and fights that have done so much to make Desmond a prize screen favorite.

The outstanding feature of the vaudevile bill scheduled for today and tomorrow is its wide range of variety. Everything that goes to make up an ideal entertainment is to be found in the program. A big dance revue, two decidedly novel numbers, a black face turn and a matrimonial skit.

Miniature Musical Comedy

Clifton, Kemp & Haynes comprise a classy trio who offer a real miniature musical comedy. They have a complete repertoire of comedy, singing and dancing which they title "Dance Variaties." Roy Gordon and Nell Healy have a newlywed skit called "Wedded Bliss" in which they manage to mix up a lot of comedy situations. Miss Healy is a $10,000 prize beauty winner, having been picked as the winner of the New York American beauty contest out of over one and a half million entrants.

One of the most unique novelties on the stage today is the "Ray Art" presented by Willa and Harold Browne. Alphonso's company also have a novelty of an entirely different sort. They present a marionette circus.

"Koon Kapers" discloses the well known "Minstrel Miss" Bertie Herron, who received her stage training from the famous Ned Weyburn. She is accompanied by Milt Arnsman who has won considerable fame as a singer of popular songs.

'BAD COMPANY' IS FILM AT COSMO

Strong Cast Portrays Roles In Picture Dealing With Youth Today

One of the best pictures that has ever played in this city is now showing at the Cosmo theatre. "Bad Company" is based on a story that is original in every detail. It carries on its roster a line-up of stars that would be a credit to any picture. It was directed and acted with an eye to keeping it natural.

The story is that of a young girl, herself a success as a Broadway actress, who would save her brother from the clutches of "Bad Company," in the form of a bad woman who has designs on the young man's fortune. The girl succeeds in freeing her brother but only after compromising the man she loves.

In the cast are Conway Tearle, as the sacrificing lover; Madge Kennedy, as the girl; Charles Emmett Mack, Bigelow Cooper, and Lucille Lee Stewart.

The direction and the credit for keeping the production natural goes to E. H. Griffith, noted for his direction of "Under the Red Robe," starring Alma Rubens. He is also credited with many other big screen successes.

Missing Pheasant Is Found In Back Yard

Advertising in The Glendale Evening News pays, is the belief of Mrs. Stella Goodman, 645 North Central avenue, who has found her gold-head pheasant by placing a "lost" advertisement in The Evening News and also by having a news story in the same paper. The bird was found this morning in the back yard of Mrs. Clem Moore's home at 360 West California avenue, and, after having the hose turned on it and being thoroughly wet, it was caught. Mrs. Moore had read the description of the lost bird in the columns of The Glendale Evening News last night and notified Mrs. Goodman. The pheasant escaped Wednesday morning while Mrs. Goodman was feeding it. Mrs. Goodman wishes to express her thanks to Mrs. Moore for finding the bird and also to teachers of the Glendale schools and any others who assisted her in trying to locate the bird.

Youth Who Escaped From Cell Not Found

Search for Willie Clark, 17, who early yesterday morning escaped from a juvenile cell at fire station No. 2 on Los Feliz road, was fruitless today. Detective Lieutenant W. J. Royle and others have the cooperation of his parents, who reside at 535 Park avenue, Royle said, but the boy has evidently fled from the city.

Young Clark was arrested with his brother, Elmer, 15, when they are alleged to have taken a glass case of gum and candy from a store at 1507 South San Fernando road. The youngest boy was sent home and Willie locked in fire station No. 2. Using a bolt he had pulled from the window as a lever, the youth pried open the cell door and escaped.

As the result of disclosures as to the condition of the city jail, with inadequate cell room, city officials said it is likely that a move will be started to call a bond election to construct an adequate police station.

AIR MAIL IS SPEEDED UP TO EAST

New Schedule Is Announced By Postmaster Jackson; Save 24 Hours

Air mail from Glendale and surrounding cities will be speeded up twenty-four hours on its trip to eastern points by a ruling just put into effect, changing the schedule of the mail planes out of San Francisco.

Announcement was made by Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson today that by the air mail planes delaying their hop-off from San Francisco forty-five minutes, the Owl, carrying air mail from Southern California, will be able to make connections with the airships. Heretofore mail arriving in San Francisco on the Owl has been held up at the Bay City for twenty-four hours before being dispatched by air.

A regular schedude of forty-nine hours and fifteen minutes is now possible between Glendale and New York city, Postmaster Jackson said. This is approximately two days or just half the time required to carry a letter the same distance by rail. Establishment of an air mail terminal in Southern California will, of course, clip this time, the postmaster pointed out.

Three-Cornered Race By Air To North Pole

sen and Algarsson will have big leads on the Americans. However, the MacMillan expedition isn't actually seeking to reach the pole.

Between the northern coasts of Alaska and the pole there lies an area of more than a million square miles on which no human being has ever cast an eye. Does it contain an island continent about which the world hitherto has known nothing This is what the MacMillan party wants to find out.

Amundsen goes north under the auspices of the Norwegian Aero club. The expedition was financed by $100,000 from James W. Ellsworth of Manhattan and has with it two Durnier-Wahl seaplanes built in Germany. His chief pilot is Riiser-Larsen, a fellow countryman.

When he stated his plans, Amundsen announced that he would spend some twenty-four hours examining the pole and its vicinity. He thought it might be possible to establish a fuel and food base at the pole for further aerial exploration. From Kings Bay to the pole is only a seven-hour flight. From the pole south to Wrangel Island and Bering Strait is about 1,500 miles.

It seems not unlikely, therefoe, that Amundsen, too, may search for the island continent; may set foot thereon, if such a land exists, and claim it for Norway.

Success Depends on Planes

Algarsson also expects to make observations around the pole, and he, too, may search for the undiscovered land.

MacMillan is making his venture under the auspices of the National Geographic society, with the United States navy co-operating unofficially. In addition to MacMillan, the navy contingent and the ship's crew, there will be about a dozen persons in the party. Among these will be John M. Jaynes, who has been with the explorer on several expeditions as chief machinist. He is a graduate of Massachusetts Institute of Technology. E. F. McDonald of Chicago, president of the Radio Broadcasters' league, will have charge of radio facilities. The flight commander is Lieutenant-Commander R. E. Byrd. Pilots chosen for the expedition's planes are Lieutenant M. A. Schur and Chief Boatswain Earl E. Reber.

On the planes these two men will pilot, known in both Uncle Sam's flying services as Loening Amphibians, hangs the success or failure of this new venture in polar exploration.

Makes Landing on Water

In Washington this winter the ship demonstrated its ability to land in the water, put down its electrically operated retractable wheels and taxi up the sloping banks of the Potomac to its hangar—"just like a duck coming home to roost," as one pilot put it In the Arctic the planes will have skis instead of wheels.

At McCook Field the "Amphib" attained a high speed of 122 miles an hour and a ceiling of 14,000 feet. Equipped for the Arctic trip it will carry 250 gallons of gas and have a range of 1,000 miles with a crew of two and their provisions and equipment. Empty, the plane weighs 3,300 pounds.

Shackleton's Commander Aids

No Arctic explorer has ever studied all conditions above the surface in these regions. It is believed that the temperature at points high above the surface is warmer than on the ice-bound land and water, and if this be true flying will be much more comfortable than traveling in the old way.

Algarsson is going to get as near as possible to the pole in the ship "Iceland," commanded by Frank Worsley, who commanded Shackleton's ships, "Quest" and "Endurance."

Commander Worsley thinks he can nose the Iceland north to within 600 miles of the pole. Her deck is prepared to carry the airship. When the polar ice halts further progress, the blimp will be inflated for the dash north. There will be food for thirty days for her crew of four, a light sledge and other equipment against the emergency of having to hike back.

Algarsson's blimp has a cruising speed of fifty miles an hour. He expects to reach his goal in twelve hours or less if winds are favorable.

Amundsen's planes, which are of the same type as the ill-fated ship in which Lieut. Antonio Locatelli attempted a trans-Atlantic flight last year in preparation for a polar expedition, are much faster. Each has sufficient cruising range to make the trips planned and carry on considerable aerial exploration of the polar basin if no mishap befalls them.

But science probably will profit most from the MacMillan expedition. For the party expects to accomplish within a few weeks numerous difficult explorations, in addition to the one in the vast no man's area of the Arctic Ocean.

They propose to reach the topmost points of the Greenland ice cap—a venture practically impossible by the overland method of travel. They will hunt, both in Greenland and Labrador, for traces of the Norsemen who were the first white men to visit these regions.

Several scientific studies not hitherto feasible, with bearings on climate, radio, terrestrial magnetism and aeronautics, will be made. If the airplane venture succeeds, large areas of Arctic territory now known only in general outline will be mapped in topographical detail with special instruments carried by the fliers. Pictures, still and moving, will be made of many scenes that have not yet known a camera.

Nothing of the sort has been attempted before. If the effort yields no other result, it should provide much new and valuable information about the worthiness of airplanes under these conditions.

NEW ACTORS ARE CAST FOR 'MANNA'

Mrs. Dobinson To Open War Play In L. A. Monday Of Next Week

Will M. Chapman, who plays "Joe Martin" in the second episode of Olga Printzlau's "Manna," opening at the Philharmonic auditorium in Los Angeles, May 11, for two weeks's run, was with the original Morosco company in San Francisco. That's where he got his start. He went east, playing in New York and throughout the country for nearly twenty years, with Robert Mantell, Clay Clement, Willard Mack and other stars. After his return he played with the old Burbank company in Los Angeles and in pictures.

Fred J. Butler, the director of "Manna," found Thomas Chatterton playing in stock in Indianapolis fifteen years ago. He promptly engaged him for the Morosco stock company in San Francisco and brought Chatterton west. Tom made good with San Francisco audiences.

But when he wasn't making a hit with his public he was taking a flyer in business, with the result that he organized the Chatterton chain of bakeries, widely known on the coast. He came to Los Angeles in due time and has been at the Majestic for some time with Edward Everett Horton, where he has played with distinction a wide variety of parts.

Other New Members

Now, as "Nellie O'Brien" in "Manna" he is back under Mr. Butler's direction again, for the first time in a dozen years.

Mignon Callish is to be the dancer, "Peanuts," whose visits to the government hospital in "Manna" are always eagerly awaited by the disabled soldiers.

Miss Callish was the ingenue in "Welcome, Stranger," recently seen in Los Angeles, and also played in "The Clinging Vine." She has also played in stock and in the pictures. She filled a dancing engagement under Miss Fanchon of Fanchon and Marco, the well-known coast team of entertainers and producers.

Husband Arrested On Complaint From Wife

Fred Montgomery, taken to police headquarters late yesterday afternoon on complaint of his former wife, Mrs. Fred Montgomery, 514 West Harvard street, was released by Chief of Police John D. Fraser after a warning to refrain hereafter from "disturbing the peace."

Montgomery, under a superior court order, has been restrained from visiting at the home of his former wife, it is claimed. They were recently divorced. At 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon Mrs. Montgomery telephoned from her home to ask police aid in forcing him to leave.

PUNCH BOARDS TO GO, CHIEF ORDERS

Elimination Of All Gambling Devices In City Will Be Made, He Says

Warrants will be issued for the arrest of Glendale merchants hereafter who permit punch boards to be used in their place of business, and the boards will be seized and destroyed, according to an ultimatum issued today by Chief of Police John D. Fraser.

Fraser has seized a number of boards in operation in the city during the past week, but the owners were released with a warning. Vending machines that give a reasonable value for every coin are not considered by Chief Fraser to be a violation of the city ordinance prohibiting gambling devices.

Hits Machines

"There have been machines here, however," said the chief today, "that delivered about one-eighth of a cent's worth of merchandise for every nickel. That is a gambling apparatus and will be considered as such.

"During the past week a number of representatives of various vending machines and punch board systems have approached me and asked that permission be granted for them to sell their product here. They said they understood that 'Glendale was favorable to them.' I don't understand where they got that impression, because their stuff will certainly be confiscated and the men who run them will be arrested and prosecuted."

ARMY STORE HAS CAMPING OUTFITS

Proprietor Of Brand Shop Says Fishing Season Opens Demand

"With the opening of the fishing season, there is an immediate demand for camping and outing equipment, said S. D. Goldsmith, proprietor of the Coast-To-Coast Army store, Brand at Harvard, today, when he called attention to the fact that his firm had already found it necessary to reorder many items in camping equipment due to the heavy demands, that have already been made upon the store.

"However, we are amply prepared to take care of the needs of our patrons and will always have on hand a complete line of everything that goes to make up a camping outfit that spells comfort and efficiency, he said.

Line Of Man Hunters Closes In On Convicts

phoned to police headquarters this morning by Detective Eddie Cox, chief of the posse operating in the Grass Valley section.

Cox said the car was stolen last night and later residents of Grass Valley saw two youths answering the description of Tanko and Hall driving away in the machine. They were headed south.

All highway entrances into Sacramento were thrown under heavy guard, on the theory that the desperadoes may have been halted in their flight across the Sierras and had been turned back, fleeing from Nevada and headed this way.

Nevada police, patroling the Nevada border, and the man hunters in the Colfax-Long ravine section were notified to be on the alert in the event the fleeing convicts double back on their tracks and make another drive to cross the snow-capped mountains into Nevada.

Reports here from Grass Valley, police said, tended to corroborate reports of yesterday that the bandits had made another wild flight over the road connecting Colfax and Grass Valley, after their daring theft of a United States mail truck Tuesday.

The theory of Chief of Police Bernard McShane of Sacramento in charge of 200 men in the "death" chase, is that the desperate murderers were unable to break through the lines of Nevada state police on the Nevada side of Sierras and stole the light delivery truck at Grass Valley last night with a view to heading southward.

Rum Chasing Denied by U.S. In Great Lakes

WASHINGTON, May 8.—A flat denial that the government is contemplating violating terms of Rush-Bagot terms of the Rush-Bagot treaty in seeking to prevent rum smuggling from Canada was made at the treasury department today. Officials asserted that no orders have been issued to coast guard crews on the Great Lakes to "shoot first and investigate afterwards."

All government law enforcement agencies, including the coast guard, prohibition units, customs forces, immigration forces and department of justice are cooperating in guarding the borders against smuggled liquor from Canada.

Although a few new boats are being built for use on the Great Lakes, these will have the combined function of life savers and anti-smuggling craft. The coast guards' activities on the lakes were described as routine.

To avoid possibility of international complications, the state department will be asked for an interpretation of the treaty covering operation of armed vessels on the Great Lakes, the treasury announced. Orders have been issued not to interfere with ships in British territorial waters.

Bribery Is Attempted To Break Up Blockade

heart of rum row virtually completed, the coast guard is now faced with the slow task of wearing out the rum fleet, not only off the New York coast, but at the hundreds of other ports of entry for liquor.

Officials anticipate a change of tactics of the rum runners and that some liquor ships will transfer their activities to other points along the Atlantic and gulf coast.

No intimation of other concentrations of the coast guard fleet was forthcoming, however.

How much money will be asked of Congress in December for the job of continuing the enforcement of the liquor smuggling laws cannot be determined until after final reports are available on the present offensive, officials said. Last year the coast guard appropriation was $22,000,000, of which $13,000,000 went for the building of ships.

The proposed nation-wide blockade would mean many more ships, men and equipment.

The coast guard's objective off New York is to make landing of liquor so hazardous and expensive that the foreign rum ships will "give up in disgust" and leave American shores.

Reports that the coast guard intended to bomb and gas rum row out of existence was denied. Most of the big liquor ships far off the shore are protected by international treaties, it was pointed out.

Kidnaping, threats of murder and bribery are being employed by rum smugglers in an effort to defeat the government's drive against rum row, coast guard headquarters said.

One man was kidnaped at Atlantic City but later released. The smugglers, it was said, were after a non-commissioned officer who has been active at Atlantic City in capturing smuggling craft, but they caught the wrong man.

Dempsey's New Nose Claimed Fighter's End

SACRAMENTO, May 8.—Science delivered a knockout punch which ended the ring career of Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion of the world, when he underwent an operation for the remodeling of his nose, according to Dr. George Warren Pierce, San Francisco surgeon, speaking before the annual convention of the State Homeopathic Medical society here today.

"I was duly convinced that Dempsey would never fight again when the news was published that he had undergone an operation for the reshaping of his nose," asserted Dr. Pierce. "One stiff blow would completely shatter Dempsey's shapely nose and he was undoubtedly told so before the operation."

Long Beach was selected as the 1926 convention city of the society at the closing session of its forty-ninth annual meeting.

XX—Solid Foods and Milk

When you resort to the fruits or other food mentioned yesterday you cannot expect nearly such satisfactory results from the milk diet, since the use of these foods will divert the digestive energies from the main object—that is, assimilating milk—so that this method of regulating the bowels should be employed as a last resort. Enemas can also be used for this purpose, at least in the beginning of the milk diet, preferably every other day, though after the first week this is usually not necessary. In taking fruit with the milk it is best to eat the fruit just before or after drinking the milk.

In some cases where you "turn against" the milk, or when it produces nausea, this unpleasant condition can be entirely changed by the use of oranges, or other acid fruits. Much experience has proven that the most effective acid fruit to rely on is the lemon. If nausea, persists, take the juice of a whole lemon, and if this does not suffice, take another, and another, until the unpleasant symptom disappears.

One should not wait until he is entirely sick, but the moment he begins to "turn against" the milk, or seems to feel that the milk might make him sick, then is the time to begin "sucking a lemon." The lemon should not be used the same time the milk is taken, but a few moments before, or a few moments after, if the symptoms appear.

I have known persons on the milk diet to need the fruit acid so badly that an ordinary lemon would be as palatable as an orange, and it would be eaten with the same relish as one would experience while eating an orange. Pay no attention to what you may hear about the use of such acids as lemon juice and milk. No amount of theory and opinions can change the facts gained by experience. No one should make the mistake of eating white bread or other tarchy food with acid fruit and milk, as serious results may follow.

There are many instances where people have taken lemon juice in the manner suggested, and within half an hour to an hour have begun to take the full quantity of milk, not only without injury, but with marked benefit, so that any patient may know they can use lemons without fear of any evil consequences.

It is well, in the early morning, if there is the slightest distaste to milk, to take a whole or half a lemon before taking the milk. Another very agreeable way of taking the required acid is to cut an orange in halves, take out part of the orange with a spoon and continue to squeeze into the orange the juice of the lemon, scooping it out in spoonfuls with a little of the orange juice each time, until both lemon and orange are gone. The orange helps to nullify the strong acid taste of the lemon and makes it more palatable.

You should not anticipate these symptoms of nausea and accustom yourself to the taking of orange or lemon juice. If there is no definite call, by all means avoid taking the fruit juice.

Poison Case Woman Heart Failure Victim

been in good health for several months, however.

The would-be assassin was never captured, although police believe they know his identity and his present location in a large eastern city. Because of the fact that evidence now on hand is largely of a circumstantial nature, extradition would be hard to obtain on an attempted murder charge.

Couple Near Death

Mr. and Mrs. Hill had an extremely narrow escape from the deadly poison. County Chemist Walker who subjected the sugar to nearly forty tests to determine the nature and quantity, declared that the poison was bichloride of mercury and the entire contents of the sugar bowl contained enough to kill twenty persons.

When Mrs. Hill placed fresh cream in coffee containing the sugar it immediately curdled. Silver spoons placed in the coffee turned black. This aroused the suspicion of her and her husband and they enlisted the aid of officers at once.

With information given by the aged couple, police were able to uncover clues that led them to the door of a Glendale man who had fled when he discovered that his plot had failed. A nation-wide search resulted and he was finally located in the east. But extradition laws then tangled the situation.

Revenge Is Motive

With the death of Mrs. Hill one of the state's most important witnesses is gone. While Mr. Hill can give important evidence, it was his wife who had been able to place the officers on the scent of the suspected assassin.

By the nature of the poison and the fact that the would-be murderer had ground the drug, which is generally sold in crystal-like flakes, to a minute powder before placing it in the sugar bowl, Lieutenant William J. Royle said that he believed it was the intention of the suspect to cause acute suffering to the Hills as well as death.

Motive for the attempted murder, it is claimed, was revenge for imaginary wrongs.

DECIDE EXPENSE CHARGES TODAY

Manager of Nurmi to Appear Before A. A. U. Official In New York City

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, May 8.—An official showdown on the question of whether Paavo Nurmi's daily expenses would keep a buttonhole maker in garlic for the rest of his life or that the young man merely runs for the simple joy of exercise probably will be had this afternoon. It is expected to come during a hearing of the case by Fred Rubien at the national headquarters of the Amateur Athletic union.

Nurmi, with Willie Ritola and Hugo Quist, are due to arrive in town today and will be haled before the one-man tribunal to answer the charges of K. L. Wilson of Drake university that excessive expenses were demanded by Quist for the appearance of the two stars at the Drake relays.

Wilson's allegation is to the effect that Quist asked $1000 for Nurmi and $500 for Ritola, it being apparent that Nurmi was to be considered not only a faster runner than Ritola, but one who lived twice as rapidly.

The Drake side of the issue will be represented by Mr. Wilson's affidavit and it may not be enough. An affidavit can only make a statement, it can neither amplify nor argue.

Quist's side of the story is that he met Wilson just once and that the question of expenses did not arise during the interview in question. Neither Nurmi nor Ritola were present, according to the statement and Quist. Therefore, it is the general belief that it will be difficult to connect them with the alleged demand.

This, by the way, was based on the theory that Drake university should pay the expenses of Nurmi and Ritola to and from New York and Nurmi's passage back to Finland, according to Wilson. Both runners were no nearer New York than Chicago, Cook county, Illinois, when the alleged demand was made. The odds are 2 to 1 with no takers that Nurmi will keep all future engagements, two in the near future—at Worcester and Pittsburgh.

Wallace Dugid And Aylward Will Meet In Finish Match Tonight

A wrestling match that would rate a $10 top anywhere in Southern California will be presented tonight at the open meeting of Glendale post No. 127, American Legion, at 335 North Brand boulevard, when Wallace Dugid, local wrestler of note, meets "Whitey" Aylward, instructor of the Southwest Athletic club, in a finish match.

Dugid is considered the most formidable challenger for the heavyweight wrestling title of the world, having been on the trail of Wayne Munn when the Kansas City mat artist held the crown, and now that Zybszko has the title, Dugid is hurling defi after defi at the veteran Pole.

Aylward is known throughout Southern California as a premier wrestler. He appeared at a previous Legion show in Glendale and won many friends by the efficient manner of disposing of his opponent in short time. Dugid appeared on the same card and it is in accordance with the expressions of many who saw the matches that Kenneth Dix of Los Angeles is matching Dugid and Aylward for tonight, two falls out of three.

Dix is also bringing to Glendale two preliminary mat matches.

The meeting tonight is open to all former service men and their friends, with the members of Glendale post No. 127 as hosts. Dix has promised a card unequaled in wrestling circles, for while no championship title is involved, Dugid and Aylward are evenly matched.

Ever since the Smith brothers broke into the coughdrop game—

And the Five Brothers began making tobacco, stories of families in a given branch of sport have been written and rewritten.

Baseball has had its share of brothers. The Delehanty boys probably drew the most limelight in their day, partly because of their number. There were four of them. But right now the Grimes boys loom up as the biggest family, if not the most famous.

There are just five members of the Grimes tribe demanding various measures of fame on the diamond.

Topping the list, of course, is the well-known Burleigh, one of Brooklyn's pitching aces for the last seven years. Grimes not only ranks as one of the best pitchers in the game, but he is one of its best known holdouts. Grimes includes a holding out session in his spring training program just as other pitchers do a rubber shirt.

By reason of the fact that he is the other member of the family to reside for some time in the big show, brother Ray, who broke in with the Chicago Cubs, comes next in importance. Ray held the first basing job with the Cubs until the deal with the Pirates, which brought Charley Grimm to the club, was negotiated. Then Ray went to Los Angeles. He made his presence felt there by slamming out a homer in one of the early games while cavorting in brilliant fashion at first.

Roy Grimes is playing first base for the Columbus Senators and if his work this season is up to that of the 1924 campaign another year may find him in the big show.

Brother Shirley got his chance in the South Association this year and Kenneth signed with Columbus.

All of which draws considerable attention to the little town of Minerva, Ohio, where these lads learned the fundamentals of the game on the lots. According to record book, however, Burleigh, at least, wasn't born there. His birthplace is given as Clearwater, Wis., which should be included in the booster pamphlets issued by the Chamber of Commerce of that fair city.

All five of the boys are crack shots and spend their off months potting the birds, clay and real.

STRONG CREWS IN ROWING TOURNEY

Universities Not Conceded High Place In Annual Poughkeepsie Meet

By LAWRENCE PERRY
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

NEW YORK, May 8.—With Washington, the Navy and Wisconsin due to row at Poughkeepsie this year the outlook for the universities making up the intercollegiate rowing association is indeed dark.

It speaks well for the sporting spirit of the Poughkeepsie stewards representing Columbia, Cornell, Pennsylvania and Syracuse that they are so eager to have outsiders in their regatta, despite the fact that the guests are so likely to capture all honors from their hosts.

Not since 1920, when the rowing association crews last rowed by themselves, have the hosts of this famous party on the Hudson finished better than third.

The Navy won in 1921 and California was second. In 1922 the Navy finished first and Washington second. In 1923 the order was reversed, Washington first and Navy second and last year Washington finished in the van with Wisconsin as the runner-up.

There seems to be every possibility on the basis of the showing of the crews thus far that universities belonging to the Intercollegiate Rowing association will have to be content with rearward places for yet another year at least.

The Wisconsin crew was out on Lake Mendota two weeks earlier than usual this season, and the oarsmen are showing the excellent effects of this release from the shackles of winter. It now seems likely that the Badgers are going to send a very good crew to the Hudson.

JOHN B. FOSTER'S VIEWS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

NEW YORK, May 8.—Sam Gray, pitcher for the Philadelphia Athletics, is beginning to come down the pike. Canny critics say he is as likely to come through and hold the Athletics high up in the battle as Groves, the left-hander whom Connie Mack took from Baltimore for a price that has been quoted as high as $100,000.

Gray is the smoothest bit of pitching machinery today that there is in the major league baseball—for his years. He is only an infant in experience. Shocker, Sam Jones, Art Nehf, Grover Alexander and others can put it all over him for years and thinning hair, but if they don't look out, Gray will be right up with them for cunning and sagacity.

The pitching motions of this young man are among the joys of the present. He has that easy, frictionless shoulder action that the great pitchers must have to be great. He lets the ball get away with so little perceptible effort and such conscious assurance that he is certain of its destination, that it is a joy to see him perform. He can curve and he can change pace. He can overhand and he can underhand.

He has a very easy long arm motion that is based on an underhand foundation which swings the ball under the batter's nose as Carl Mays could swing it when he was at his best. It is very hard to hit that kind of ball.

Gray won a brace of 1925 games from Boston right off the reel, but he didn't get the credit for that which was his due, because there are so many people who think a pitcher that doesn't win a brace of games from Boston is no pitcher at all.

After the Boston victories, Gray won a brace from the New York Yanks, and that was something else, especially as the Yanks were out to gather a couple of much-needed victories at his expense. But Gray put a blanket over them and drew the puckering string tight, pitching such artistic baseball that the fans were enraptured and began to talk about a second "Matty" and all that sort of thing. Gray did the thing up brown, because time after time the Yanks had a chance to tie the score of the second game, and Gray pitched them into oblivion.

Out in Fort Worth, where Sam Gray came from, they have a mighty good opinion as to his future. A Texas fan, who meets anyone from the east is sure to ask how Sam is coming along, and if the tenderfoot can't show by his replies that he knows all about Sam Gray, he is likely to be followed around by a pitying—or a hostile—crowd.

About three years ago, when Gray was even more of a pitching infant than he is now, he pitched twenty-seven games for Paris, Texas. He won twenty-three of them. In view of that exploit alone, it is easy to understand how it is that out in the lone star state, where they grow their Speakers, and their Hornsbys, they think they have a coming wonder in Sam Gray, even if he didn't start Philadelphia into a blaze during his first year in the east.

"Give that boy time," says the Texans, "and he'll have them all roped."

NEWS BY LETTER

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE STAFF

Furnished Exclusively to The Glendale Evening News

HARTFORD, Conn., May 8.—Connecticut's blue laws, which once were so strict that a man could be jailed for kissing his wife on the Sabbath, are gradually being modified by the state Legislature. Sunday excursion trains may be operated within the limits of Connecticut hereafter, under provisions of bills passed by the Legislature, for one thing. And for another, professional sports may be indulged in at the option of citizens of any town that may be interested in such things.

Until the present Legislature repealed the law, Connecticut's statutes carried a provision against excursion trains on Sunday, though boat excursions were not banned. This law was heeded strictly through the years it had been in force. Now that railroads want to meet increasing auto competition by offering attractive rail-line rates on Sunday, they turned to the Legislature for action.

Professional football and baseball have been Sunday afternoon features in nearly every Connecticut town for years, but that was merely because the authorities winked at the games. Occasionally an official would cause a raid on a game of baseball, but not often enough to cause much discomfort. For two decades liberal residents have struggled to have the sports put on a legal footing. They almost won out two years ago, but Governor Charles A. Templeton vetoed the bill that the Legislature passed, and no effort was made to try to put it across against the veto. This year liberals won out, with hardly any opposition; and a new governor, John H. Trumbull, aligned himself with the other liberals.

When the Sunday Excursion bill was presented following the passage of the Sunday Sports bill, the legislator told his colleagues it was to be expected, "now that you have let the bars down to spoilers of the Sabbath with their sports."

That the blue laws were really once in force is indicated by the story of the settlement of Stratford by a resident of Milford. The Milfordite kissed his wife on a Sabbath day, and when Monday came he was haled into court. He escaped the bailiffs, swam the broad waters of the Housatonic river, which now separates the two towns, and built his log house on the other shore. His wife was rescued under cover of darkness later on, "and they lived happily ever after."

Now that the blue laws are being assailed some legislator may be expected to dig up all the obsolete laws on the state's statute books and seek the repeal of the entire lot.

BELDIN SALES CO. NAMED AGENTS

Local Concern Will Handle Electric Refrigerator For Home Use

The Beldin Sales Co., 117 North Maryland avenue, has been appointed by the General Motors Co. as local dealers in Frigidaire, the electric refrigerator for home use, it is announced.

Concurrent with this announcement is the introduction of a moderate-sized Frigidaire to sell at a low price. According to Kenneth Beldin, manager of the local firm, this equipment may be had complete with the refrigerator or in a separate unit to be placed in any ice box. The popularity of Frigidaire, Mr. Beldin says, is due to the low cost of operation and to the great saving which is effected in foods. Owing to the very low, steady temperature maintained, foods may be kept fresh almost indefinitely, he said.

BURBANK NEWS

BURBANK, May 8.—Burbank will vote in the near future on the question of annexation to Los Angeles. At a meeting of the city Board of Trustee's, City Clerk Webster reported that after a thorough check the annexation petition contained fifty-one names more than required to call an election.

Charles H. Kline has resigned as a member of the board of directors of the State Bank of Burbank. George A. Simpson was elected to fill the vacancy created by Kline's resignation. Attorney Clifford Thompson was also elected to the directorate.

A committee has been appointed by the West Burbank Improvement association to cooperate with the park and forestry commission in beautifying the city and planting trees.

From present indications the voters of Burbank will be called upon to decide whether or not the tent show will be permitted to continue in Burbank after June 1. A petition bearing nearly 1000 names was presented to the board of trustees asking that the present license of $15 per day be reduced to $5 per day, instead of increased to $50 per day after June 1. The matter is expected to be made a referendum.

The park and forestry commission has refused to permit removal of a pepper tree in front of a new building at 234 Orange Grove avenue. The commission holds that the tree is worth $500 to the city.

With a goal of $1500, the annual campaign for the support of the Y. M. C. A. is now under way in Burbank. Workers are divided into two divisions, with three teams in each division.

Miss Gish Testifies On Perjury Charges

NEW YORK, May 8.—Lillian Gish, motion picture actress, gave evidence before the federal grand jury hearing perjury charges against Charles H. Duell, who as head of Inspiration Pictures, was her former manager. The perjury charges resulted from Duell's testimony in his suit to restrain Miss Gish from appearing under any management other than his own. The suit ended when Federal Judge Mack awarded Miss Gish the verdict and ordered Duell held in $10,000 bail for alleged perjury. Although the hearing was secret, it was rumored that Miss Gish requested leniency for Duell.

UNCLE WIGGILY

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Copyright, 1925, By The McClure Newspaper Syndicate

UNCLE WIGGILY'S DANDELION PIE

Uncle Wiggily was very fond of dandelion pie — which is a pie made especially for rabbit gentlemen from the bright, yellow blossoms of spring dandelion blossoms. So one day when Mrs. Longears asked her husband what he would like for dessert at lunch that noon he answered right away quick:

"Dandelion pie!"

"Then," said his new wife, "If you will gather the yellow blossoms for me, I shall be very happy to bake you the pie."

"I'll take some of the little bunnies with me and we'll pick so many blossoms as never was!" cried Uncle Wiggily, and he blew a kiss from the end of his pink, twinkling nose, and away he hopped, over the fields, and through the woods to the meadow where the dandelions grew.

With their new daddy went Jingle and Jangle, two of the little rabbit children, and if you ever saw two mischievous little tykes, always looking for some trick, or joke, to play, those rabbit girls were the worst.

"I wonder if we can play any trick on Daddy Wiggily today?" whispered Jingle to Jangle as they hopped away to the dandelion meadow.

"I don't know," answered Jangle. "But maybe if we make a noise like a fox our new daddy will shout and give a big jump and run—until he finds out we did it."

"All right—let's!" giggled Jingle. So those little tykes, all of a sudden, made a rustling sound in the bushes, such as the Fuzzy Fox might make and just then Uncle Wiggily had picked up a big stone to see how strong he was, and to be sure he had no rheumatism that day.

"My goodness! Is that the Fox making the rustling noise in the bushes!" cried Mr. Longears, but it wasn't at all, being only Jingle and Jangle playing a trick. But Uncle Wiggily didn't know that, so he jumped and ran and dropped the big stone he had picked up. The stone fell in the brook, across which the bunny gentleman leaped. And the stone splashed up a lot of water which got all over Jingle and Jangle.

"Oh, my dears; I am so sorry I wet you!" cried Uncle Wiggily, when he looked back, after he had made sure there was no Fox. "But I thought it was the bad chap after me!" chuckled Mr. Longears. Jingle and Jangle didn't say anything, but I think it served them right!

Soon after that they reached the meadow where grew many yellow dandelion blossoms, and Uncle Wiggily and the two little rabbit girls gathered as many as they needed before they hopped home again.

Mrs. Longears, with the help of Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, baked the dandelion pie, and when Uncle Wiggily saw it on the luncheon table he smiled a happy smile and cut each of the rabbit children a piece. For himself he took two pieces, as he was very fond of this pie.

After lunch Uncle Wiggily went to sleep in his easy chair. Then Jingle and Jangle, creeping in, seeing their new daddy asleep, said, one to the other:

"The trick with the Fox didn't work. But we'll play one with some of the dandelion blossoms left over when Ma made the pie."

Taking some blossoms, Jingle and Jangle softly rubbed them on Uncle Wiggily's twinkling nose, and so softly, as he slept, that they did not awaken him. The yellow blossoms made a lot of yellow dust on the bunny's nose. When he awakened and looked in the glass, he saw that his nose was yellow, instead of pink.

"Oh, call Dr. Possum—quick!" he shouted to his wife. And when Dr. Possum came, and looked at Uncle Wiggily's yellow nose, he said:

"What have you been eating?"

"Dandelion pie," answered the bunny.

"That accounts for it! Ahem!" said Dr. Possum. "I must give you some very bitter medicine to change your yellow nose back to pink."

Then Jingle and Jangle felt sorry, and, not wanting Daddy Wiggily to take bitter medicine, they jumped out from behind his chair, crying:

"That's only yellow dandelion dust on his pink nose! It will rub off! See!" And with their handkerchiefs they rubbed Uncle Wiggily's nose until it was pink again.

"Ahem!" laughed Dr. Possum. "I guess I am not needed here with my bitter medicine," and back to his office he went. Uncle Wiggily shook his paw at Jingle and Jangle, yet, at the same time, he could not help laughing at them. But they promised not to yellow his pink nose again.

And if the apple pie doesn't flop over upside down and try to make itself look like a strawberry shortcake, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Bully's splash.

PRACTICALLY AN AUCTION SALE
THIS ATTRACTIVE NEW STUCCO BUNGALOW MUST BE SOLD AT ONCE

To enable this Builder to go ahead with other building plans, he must sell this week, and we have instructions to sell for practically any proposition offered.

A 5-room stucco, not extra large rooms, but a well planned attractive little home in a fast developing section, N.W.—every modern feature—High grade construction—fixtures and decorations.

Now read this carefully, get out your pencil and paper, and figure. House has 3-year straight loan for $2400, also a trust deed on it for $2200 payable at $40 a month including interest, total loans on house $4600. Figuring from bank and loan company valuation, the value of the house should be $6500.

We know the owner will take $5500. That means $900 cash and assume $4600 in easy payment loans.

He might take $5100, which means $500 cash and assume $4600 in easy payment loans.

He might take even less or an automobile and a little cash.

The main thing we want you to understand is that this house is right, location right and the owner not only wants to sell, but positively must sell in the next few days.

Resolution On Grade Crossing Prepared

$300,000, in addition to damage to property values in the vicinity which, it is claimed by the proponents of the overhead crossing plan, would be enormous.

The subway would have to extend from San Fernando road for a similar distance on the other side of the tracks, and as a result valuable business property now fronting Los Feliz road between these points would be left high above traffic, it is pointed out.

Favor Overhead

While the overhead crossing plan as yet has not been definitely decided upon by the Glendale Planning commission and the City Council as the best of the two proposed methods, it is the one most favored both here and in Los Angeles as feasible and practicable. The Glendale Planning commission has announced that it will carry out a private survey of the Johannsen plan of lowering the grade of the Southern Pacific tracks, which it believes to be practical.

The joint resolution, which will be completed by City Attorney Stevens of Los Angeles within the next few days, will be before the planning commission on Monday night. Although Stevens will not be present, City Attorney Ray L. Morrow will probably present it to the council on Thursday, after which it must be approved by the Los Angeles City Council. Then it will be presented to the State Railroad commission by Morrow and Stevens.

NEW YORK CLOSING

By W. S. COUSINS
For International News Service

NEW YORK, May 8.—Though not as aggressive as in the last two days, speculative stocks continued their advance into high price levels today. The railroad stocks were in control of the market, while industrials were under profit-taking, the principal action being in the stocks of the so-called weak lines, which are likely to be taken over and added to the stronger systems, should it be found possible to effect the mergers under contemplation.

A number of the industrial and specialty stocks staged a strong rally, the most prominent being the advance in American Sumatra Tobacco preferred, which recovered to 41, against yesterday's low price at 29.

Professional traders launched a series of drives against some of the stocks which have been moving forward without interruption for a week or more, and succeeded in marking prices down from 1 to 5 points in a few of the leaders, which in almost every case recovered when bearish operations had concluded.

The market slowed down after the noon period and market activities were confined to a smaller number of prominent stocks. Rock Island at the head of the speculative rails, reached 48 on the movement, and its course was paralleled by Chicago Great Western and Western Maryland. Southern Railway and Baltimore & Ohio led in the investment rails.

Good buying of the motor stocks prevailed from the opening of the market. Large blocks of Willys-Overland common came out at the highest prices since 1909. Hudson, Maxwell, General Motors and the Pirece-Arrow made new high price levels for the movement. The mercantile stocks were not so active, but prices were well maintained.

The decline in week-end call money rates to 3½ per cent in the face of a drop in reserves of the Federal Reserve bank emphasized the strong situation in the money market. Commodity prices were irregular, with sugar scraping bottom and crude rubber at the highest price in five years. The gasoline market was firm despite the recent reductions at the eastern points, including New York City.

Skelly Oil was active in the last period. United States Rubber sold at 44, up 2 points. Mack Trucks broke all former records and sold above 154. Dodge Brothers' preference and class "A" stocks were active at the close.

Sales today, 1,660,500 shares; bonds, $14,925,000.

MONEY & EXCHANGE

NEW YORK, May 8.—Call money on the floor of the New York stock exchange today ruled at 3¾ per cent; high, 3¾ per cent; low, 3½ per cent. Time money was quiet. Rates were: Sixty days, 3¾@4 per cent; ninety days, 3½@4 per cent; four months, 3¾@4 per cent; five months, 3¾@4 per cent; six months, 3¾@4 per cent. The market for prime mercantile paper was quiet. Call money in London today was 4 per cent. Sterling exchange was steady, with business in bankers' bills at $4.84⅞ for demand.

BANK CLEARINGS

SAN FRANCISCO, May 8.—Bank clearings, $27,200,000.

LOS ANGELES, May 8.—Bank clearings, $23,350,047.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, May 8.—The grain market, led by wheat,, was active and strong throughout today's session, and prices were higher at the close. Wheat finished 2⅛@3¾c higher, corn closed ⅞@1⅜c up and oats ⅛c off to 1¼c higher. Provisions closed lower.

NOTED WOMEN SCORE 'ROD' FOR CHILD

Famous Council Member Brands as 'Barbarous' Spanking Method

By FRED J. WALKER
For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Spanking and other stern punishments for children were scored as "barbarous" by women delegates to the International Council of Women.

Led by Mrs. Ogle-Gordon of England, first vice-president of the council, noted leaders from all countries today joined in denouncing historic methods of disciplining recalcitrant youth. A new day in child training was declared to have dawned as a result of increased parental education and delegates predicted that the familiar hair brush-razor strop rattan methods of showing Johnny the error of his ways would end with the present generations.

"Intelligent parents do not beat their children into obedience any more. Striking a child when it refuses to obey is a confession of ignorance. Training begins at the cradle," said Mrs. Gordon.

"At the age of one month a baby will lay the foundation for future parental heartaches unless its demands for attention are checked.

"From then on it progresses either into admirable obedience or an unfavorable disposition which the parent promptly tries to whip into shape."

Mrs. Gordon is the mother of three children and recently became a grandmother.

Advice to Mothers

"A child can be deprived of little pleasures if it misbehaves and once it realizes a parent must be obeyed, it will cease to become a worry," she said. "By the time it is four years old the average baby will have a foundation of discipline which, if continued, will last through life."

General instruction throughout the world in the rearing of children was advocated as a means of improving conditions. The ordinary parent, she said, trains his offspring as his father or mother did and as a result the world has, with few changes, been using primitive methods.

AT LA CRESCENTA

LA CRESCENTA, May 8.—Playing to a packed house the music section of the Crescenta Valley Women's club scored a big hit last night in its all-American program given in observance of Music week.

When the curtain arose on a modern living room Elizabeth Alden was reading an article deploring the lack of American music. Going to an old chest she selected different articles recalling Revolutionary war times, including a pair of colonial shoe buckles to introduce the all-American Fantasy played by Mrs. Smith at the piano and D. Smith on the violin.

A pair of candle snuffers served to introduce little Miss Mercy Jane Hopkins of Glendale, who did an old-fashioned minuet in costume. A wee parasol brought memories of "When You and I Were Young Maggie," sung by a chorus of seventeen feminine voices. "Carry Me Back to Old Virginny" was sung by Mesdames Smith, Messick and Haskins.

A sword used in the Civil war introduced "Just Before the Battle Mother" by a male quartet composed of Messrs. Rodet, Babcock, Jones and Zautner.

Relics of the perilous days of the early American life were the tomahawk and war club shown in contrast to the Indian music of this generation. Mrs. William Reed as an Indian maid, sang "Waters of Minnetonka" and "Indian Dawn" with Mr. Reed accompanying on the violin. Days of 1860 recalled in a "Dance of the Crinoline" by Mildred Maranville. MacDowell's "To a Wild Rose" as sung by Mesdame Smith, Messick and Miss Clark made a hit.

Coming to the past few years a battle scarred helmet was the introduction for "The Rose of No Man's Land," sung by Mrs. R. I. Lowe in a Red Cross nurse's uniform. "I Love a Little Cottage" was sung by the male quartet. Always a favorite with her valley audiences Mrs. Evelyn Pierce of Glendale was encored in her pianologue "Little Boy Blue" and "Scandal." Mrs. Sheridan Young recited "The Heart of Her" and "Since I Kissed You."

Introduced as the 13-year-old club member Mildred Biescar played "Indian Love Song." Found in the ruins of a German dugout a mellow toned violin was used by Paul Rodet in accompanying the feminine chorus in the singing of "Dear Little Boy of Mine." "Spirit Flower" was chosen to show what American music can really be when such a composer as Campbell Tipton does his best. Mrs. Imogene Smith sang this number.

No all-American program would be complete without Carrie Jacobs Bond being represented. The popular "Just A-Wearyin' for You" was given by the quartet. George Cobb, another American, composer contributed "Driftwood" played as a trio with Mrs. R. Q. MacDonald at the piano, Miss Clark violin and Mr. Hannan, clarinet.

At the conclusion of this number Elizabeth Alden (Mary B. Darrow) asked the audience to join in singing "The National Anthem" which concluded an enjoyable program. The music section express their appreciation to the Glendale Music Co., that furnished the grand piano and the Montrose Furniture Co., that furnished the stage settings and to Mesdames Kemp and Sechler, who decorated. Mrs. Kemp designed and made the artistic old-fashioned picket fence over whose top hollyhocks welcomed the passerby into America's music land.

The full returns of the program have not been totaled as there are a number of tickets to be accounted for. It is estimated a sum in excess of $100 will reward the workers who by their industry have been able to add to the building fund.

Members of the Guild of St. Luke's of the Mountains met yesterday afternoon in the church basement where discussion of plans for the coming silver tea to be given by Mrs. Seymour Thomas was the chief item of business. The tea will be in the nature of a garden party to take place on Thursday, May 28, when the bishops' portrait recently completed by Mr. Thomas will be on exhibition, before being hung in the hall of the Good Samaritan hospital. A letter from Miss Patton of Pasadena, thanked the guild for contribution to the Alaska box contents. Mrs. C. A. Haskins, treasurer, read a letter of thanks from the bishop's secretary for the contribution made by the guild toward the portrait fund.

Announcements of the Music week program were made by Mrs. Mark Collins. Mrs. A. C. Haskins, chairman, of the Better Homes week, announced the program to be carried out for this work, also the home economics section meeting at her home next Tuesday.

Mrs. Mark and Mrs. Charles Collins were appointed to take charge of the cake booth at the garden party and Mesdames Brown and Minford will take care of the homemade candy sales. Mrs. Rousee and Mrs. Haskins will be hostesses for the month of June. Yesterday's tea was in charge of Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Minford, assisted by Mrs. Robert Wildhack who presided at the table.

An inspection tour of the elementary schools of the city and of proposed sites on which to construct new buildings, under way today, will be followed late this afternoon or tonight by a report to the Board of Education by a special committee of fifteen on the advisability of calling a $1,200,000 bond election before the end of the school year.

Survey of System

Appointment of the committee by the board was authorized at a general meeting attended by representatives of all civic and service organizations of the city, and a final report was ordered to be returned to the board within ten days. Under that condition the report must be made tonight.

Although June 16, when a $150,000 memorial hall bond issue will be voted upon, has been tentatively decided upon as the date for the elementary school bond election, there has been no final action as yet.

ship fund of over $100, but to date it has never been used.

Publicity

Notices of Parent-Teacher Associations' activities are given in our local newspapers, The Glendale Evening News and The Glendale Press; in fact, the former has reserved prominent space with special "P.-T. A." heading daily. Announcements of meetings were sent out to all members each month and results reported in the papers.

Courtesy

Teachers' annual reception, which was sponsored by the Federation, was held on November 10, 1924, at the Harvard high school. More than 350 teachers and members were present. Greetings were given by Mrs. Spradling and Mrs. G. U. Moyse. R. D. White, superintendent, spoke on the excellent work being accomplished by the P.-T. A. The program consisted of readings, vocal numbers and an eccentric dance. Presidents of the different schools were hostesses at the tables.

Annual picnic has been the customary event closing the school year's activities, but this year the luncheon conference and installation was held at the Central Christian church on June 11, 1924, which was a very happy and successful innovation. Yellow and white P.-T. A. colors were effectively carried out in decorations as well as in the viands. Around the honor table were the following speakers: Mrs. O. H. Spradling, Mrs. E. B. Moore, Mrs. Shelton Bissell, Mrs. M. O. Ryan, W. E. Hewitt, R. D. White, Mrs. G. U. Moyse, Dr. Jessie A. Russell, Albert Pearce, Mrs. H. V. Henry, Miss C. Noble, Mrs. Arthur Brown, Floyd Mercer, Gertrude Gibbs, Katherine V. Sinks.

Installation of new officers took place. Mrs. E. B. Moore outgoing president was presented with two baskets of flowers and Mrs. A. H. Brown on behalf of the Federation presented her with a silver pen and pencil, also past president's pin. With the singing of the P.-T. A. song and a hymn, the women disbanded for the summer recess.

Social hour prevailed after each meeting in nearly every association. Associations give a luncheon to their teachers each year.

Playground

Children play the usual playground games. Benches were purchased by one of the schools for their playground. In one school playgrounds are open two nights a week under supervision. Three associations furnished playground equipment to their schools.

Remarks

The usual law classes have been in session this year, and the interest shown by some of the members for parliamentary law resulted in the organization of a Parliamentary Law club of Glendale, meeting every first and third Friday, at the public library.

In conclusion the writer wishes to extend most hearty greetings and much appreciation to the local school historians for their kind spirit and co-operation.

charge of the tickets and Mesdames E. V. Bacon, Adelaide Imler, James H. Cunningham and F. Rowry will be hostesses.

During the social hour refreshments of tea and cake were served by Mesdames L. C. Denman, Emma Haller, Adelaide Imler and J. W. Sharpe.

REPORTS THEFT

A valuable overcoat, a two-tube radio, batteries and two crosscut saws were stolen Wednesday night from his garage, A. W. Thresher, 1220 Western avenue, reported to police here.

RENFREW RESIGNS SECRETARY'S POST

Becomes Affiliated With Greater San Fernando Valley Order

O. J. Renfrew, prominent in the civic affairs of the San Fernando valley, and secretary of the Greater San Fernando Valley association and the Lankershim Chamber of Commerce, tendered his resignation to the Associated Chambers of Commerce as secretary of that organization at a meeting held at Burbank last night.

Renfrew has held the position for the past two years and achieved valley-wide recognition as a result of numerous important improvements and developments accomplished during his administration.

Devote Full Time

His duties as secretary of the Greater San Fernando Valley association, an organization recently formed by leading business men from all points in the valley to advertise and expedite the consummation of the major improvement projects, require all of his time, he stated in the resignation.

During the week of May 25 to 30 the new valley-wide association will conduct a campaign to raise $150,000 from valley property owners to finance an adequate advertising campaign. Renfrew was one of the originators of the plan and has perfected the plan for raising the fund based on the assessed valuation of the property-owners' land holdings.
